Introduced by M. of A. CUSICK -- read once and referred to the Committee on Transportation

AN ACT to amend the transportation law, in relation to the enforcement of provisions relating to carriers of household goods by motor vehicles

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The transportation law is amended by adding a new section 198-a to read as follows:

§ 198-a. Enforcement. The department shall enforce this article and any provision of any authorized rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to this article provided that the attorney general, in response to a complaint from a consumer, at the request of the commissioner, or on the attorney general's own initiative, may seek equitable relief to restrain any violation or threatened violation of section one hundred ninety-one of this article or any provision of any authorized rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to such section. Whenever there shall be a violation or threatened violation of section one hundred ninety-one of this article or any provision of any authorized rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to such section, an application may be made by the attorney general in the name of the people of the state of New York to a court or justice having jurisdiction, by a special proceeding, seeking an injunction to enjoin and restrain the continuance of such violation or threatened violation; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court or justice that the defendant has, in fact, violated section one hundred ninety-one of this article or any provision of any authorized rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to such section, an injunction may be issued by the court or justice, enjoining and restraining any further violations, without requiring proof that any person has, in fact, been injured or damaged thereby.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.

In any such proceeding, the court may make allowances to the attorney general as provided in paragraph six of subdivision (a) of section eighty-three hundred three of the civil practice law and rules, and direct restitution. Whenever the court shall determine that a violation of section one hundred ninety-one of this article or any provision of any authorized rule or regulation promulgated pursuant to section one hundred ninety-one of this article has occurred, the court may also impose a civil penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation. In connection with any such proposed application, the attorney general is authorized to take proof and make a determination of the relevant facts and to issue subpoenas in accordance with the civil practice law and rules.

§ 2. This act shall take effect on the ninetieth day after it shall have become a law.
