IN SENATE

May 2, 2012

Introduced by Sen. FLANAGAN -- read twice and ordered printed, and when printed to be committed to the Committee on Education

AN ACT to amend the education law, in relation to providing supplemental educational services to students from low-income families who are enrolled in schools that have failed to make adequate yearly progress for two consecutive years

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Legislative intent. The legislature hereby finds and 1 2 declares it necessary to preserve and continue supplemental educational 3 services in the state that provide low-income students with tutoring 4 free of charge. This program empowers parents to take an active role in 5 the education of their children, as it is parents who decide which 6 state-approved tutoring provider they will send their children to. Parents are engaged in every aspect of the interventions, and it is the 7 8 parents, rather than the school district, making decisions for their children that will help their children catch up to their peers. 9

Currently 87,406 low-income students attend failing schools 10 in this state and receive supplemental educational services tutoring. 11 The program is available to all low-income students attending schools 12 that fail to meet Federal Adequate Yearly Progress for consecutive years. 13 These are schools that the United States Department of Education deems 14 as failing to meet the basic educational needs of their students. Nearly 15 16 of children eligible for the program in this state elect to take 66% 17 part in the tutoring program. The program provides low-income parents with a range of educational opportunities outside of the normal school 18 19 day that help their children improve academically.

Supplemental educational services is a highly effective way to provide one-to-one or small group instruction to disadvantaged students. Studies by the United States Department of Education conclude that the tutoring programs lead to significant gains in student achievement in reading and math.

The legislature hereby finds and declares that supplemental educational services are a proven way to help improve student performance and these services must be maintained while the state is in the process of creating and implementing systemic reforms to improve student performance and ensure students graduate college- and career-ready. At a time when the state is looking to reform its education system, disadvantaged students struggling individually with academics should not be left without services because they attend a school that has been continuously failing.

8 S 2. The education law is amended by adding a new section 3209-b to 9 read as follows:
