(f) If the property lost all of its value due to Hurricane Sandy, the taxable assessed value of the property shall be reduced to zero for the impacted assessment roll.

(g) The percentage loss in value for the purpose of this act shall be determined by the New York city department of finance in the manner provided by this act, subject to review by the New York city tax commission.

(h) No reduction in taxable assessed value shall be granted pursuant to this act except as specified above.

2. To receive such relief pursuant to this act, the property owner shall submit a written request to the New York city department of finance within ninety days following the date upon which this act is approved by the governor. Such request need not be in a particular format but shall describe in reasonable detail the damage caused to the property by Hurricane Sandy and the condition of the property following the hurricane, and shall be accompanied by supporting documentation if available.

3. Upon receiving such a request, the New York city department of finance shall make a finding as to whether the property lost at least half of its value as a result of Hurricane Sandy, and if so, shall classify the percentage loss of value within one of the following ranges:

(a) at least fifty percent but less than sixty percent,

(b) at least sixty percent but less than seventy percent,

(c) at least seventy percent but less than eighty percent,

(d) at least eighty percent but less than ninety percent,

(e) at least ninety percent but less than one hundred percent, or

(f) one hundred percent.

4. The New York city department of finance shall provide written notice of such finding to the property owner. The property owner may appeal the New York city department of finance's finding to the New York city tax commission. Upon receipt of such appeal, the New York city tax commission shall reconvene upon ten days written notice to the property owner and the New York city department of finance to hear the appeal and determine the matter, and shall provide written notice of its determination to the New York city department of finance and property owner. The provisions of article 5 of the real property tax law shall govern the review process to the extent practicable.

5. Where property has been determined to have lost at least fifty percent of its value due to Hurricane Sandy, the taxable assessed value of the property on the impacted assessment roll shall be reduced by the

1 appropriate percentage specified in subdivision one of this section, 2 provided that any exemptions which the property may be receiving shall 3 be adjusted as necessary to account for such reduction in the taxable
4 assessed value. To the extent the taxable assessed value of the property 5 originally appearing on such roll exceeds the amount to which it should 6 be reduced pursuant to this act, the excess shall be considered a cler-7 ical error. The error shall be corrected, and a refund or credit shall 8 be provided in a manner consistent with section 11-206 of the adminis-
9 trative code of the city of New York.

10 6. The rights contained in this act shall not otherwise diminish any 11 other legally available right of any property owner or party who may 12 otherwise lawfully challenge the valuation or assessment of any real 13 property or improvements thereon. All remaining rights hereby remain and 14 shall be available to the party to whom such rights would otherwise be 15 available notwithstanding this act.

16 S 5. School district held harmless. The city school district of the 17 city of New York shall be held harmless by the state for any reduction 18 in state aid that would have been paid as tax savings pursuant to 19 section 1306-a of the real property tax law incurred due to the 20 provisions of this act.

21 S 6. This act shall take effect immediately and shall be deemed to 22 have been in full force and effect on and after October 26, 2012.
