Section 1. Statement of legislative purpose and findings. The legislature finds and declares that New York's mortgage foreclosure crisis continues. Many New Yorkers are still unable to meet their mortgage obligations. There are delays in the foreclosure process, homes are sitting vacant or in a state of ill repair because of drawn out loan modification and foreclosures, neighborhoods with high concentrations of foreclosures are losing value and the owners are losing equity. closures that were the result of the real estate downturn and great recession will continue to be a problem within the state. The legislature finds that it is necessary to create a statewide program to stabilize communities throughout the state by: (i) avoiding foreclosures and ameliorating the effects of the mortgage foreclosure crisis; (ii) eliminating blighted properties and vacant lots that bring down community values and create attractive nuisances within communities; (iii) restoring property tax income to counties and towns; and (iv) maintaining affordable housing. Accordingly the legislature hereby creates the community restoration fund.
