42 § 696-c. Notice of intention to take leave. An employee shall provide 43 an employer with reasonable notice of the employee's intention to take

11 ty-six-d of this article, describing the domestic or sexual violence in 12 the employee's life and the request to take a leave to address the 13 effects of domestic or sexual violence, shall be kept confidential by 14 the employer. Disclosure shall only be allowed if the employee, in 15 writing, consents to or requests disclosure.

20 position with equivalent benefits, pay and other terms and conditions of 21 employment.

22 2. The taking of leave under section six hundred ninety-six-a of this 23 article shall not result in the loss of any employment benefits accrued 24 prior to the date on which the leave began.

25 3. (a) Except as provided in subdivision two of this section, any 26 employee who takes leave under section six hundred ninety-six-a of this

31 maintaining coverage under a health benefits plan for the employee enti-
32 tled to leave under section six hundred ninety-six-a of this article, 33 if:

34 (i) the employee fails to return to such person's employment once the 35 leave has expired; and

36 (ii) the employee fails to return to work for a reason other than:

37 (A) the continuation, recurrence, or onset of domestic or sexual 38 violence that entitles the employee to leave pursuant to this section; 39 or

40 (B) other circumstances beyond the control of the employee.

41 § 696-g. Prohibited acts. 1. Interference with rights.

42 (a) Exercise of rights. It shall be unlawful for any employer to 43 interfere with, restrain, or deny the exercise of or the attempt to 44 exercise any right provided under this article.

46 discharge or harass any individual, or otherwise discriminate against

50 under this article or opposed any practice made unlawful by this arti-
51 cle.

52 2. Interference with proceedings or inquiries. It shall be unlawful 53 for any person to discharge or in any other manner discriminate (as

8 § 696-h. Civil action. 1. By employee. Any person denied leave or 9 benefits due under this article or aggrieved by an action made unlawful 10 by this article shall have a cause of action in any court of appropriate 11 jurisdiction for damages, including any wages, salary, employment bene-
12 fits or other compensation denied or lost to such individual by reasons 13 of the violation and/or any actual monetary losses sustained by the 14 individual as a direct result of the violation, as well as interest on 15 such amount calculated at the prevailing rate, and such equitable relief 16 as may be appropriate, including employment, reinstatement, and 17 promotion, together with costs and such reasonable attorneys' fees as 18 may be allowed by the court, and if the violation was willful, an addi-19 tional amount as liquidated damages equal to twenty-five percent of the 20 total of such damages found to be due.

21 2. By commissioner. On behalf of any employee denied leave or benefits 22 due under this article or aggrieved by an action made unlawful by this 23 article, the industrial commissioner may bring a legal action necessary 24 to collect damages due to the violation, and the employer shall be 25 required to pay such damages and if such violation was willful, an addi-26 tional amount as liquidated damages equal to twenty-five percent of the 27 total of such damages found to be due.

28 3. Limitation of time. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an 29 action to recover upon liability imposed by this article must be 30 commenced within two years.

31 § 696-i. Savings clause. If any provision of this article or the 32 application thereof to any person, employer, occupation or circumstance 33 is held invalid, the remainder of the article and the application of 34 such provision to other persons, employees, occupations, or circum-
35 stances shall not be affected thereby.

36 § 2. This act shall take effect on the ninetieth day after it shall 37 have become a law.
