AN ACT to amend the criminal procedure law and the civil practice law and rules, in relation to detaining persons for longer than twenty-four hours

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section 140.20 of the criminal procedure law is amended by adding a new subdivision 9 to read as follows:

9. For purposes of this section, "unnecessary delay" shall mean promptly, and in any event before twenty-four hours or less have expired, commencing at the time of the person being taken into custody by such police officer, or any person acting on behalf of a police officer, even when no arrest number has been issued. The failure or inability of any government agency to fulfill the requirements of this section, shall require the immediate release from custody of any person so held.

§ 2. The criminal procedure law is amended by adding a new article 3 to read as follows:

ARTICLE 3

DETAINED PERSONS REGISTRY

Section 3.10 Detained persons registry.

§ 3.10 Detained persons registry.

1. Cities with a population of one million or more shall establish and maintain a searchable online registry, consisting of the names, ages, and locations of persons taken into custody by a police department for any reason, which will permit authorized users to locate such persons.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.

LBD03244-03-1

1 2. Such information shall be entered into the registry at the moment a 2 person is taken into custody, and upon the issuance of any type of 3 appearance ticket, summons or upon the arraignment of any person entered 4 into this registry, or upon the release of any person entered into this
5 registry from detention, any and all data related thereto shall be imme-6 diately removed from the registry, destroyed and rendered unavailable to 7 any entity for any purpose.

8 3. For the purposes of this section, authorized users shall be limit-
9 ed to defender organizations contracted with cities to represent crimi-
10 nal defendants. The agency administering the registry shall be charged 11 with ensuring that authorized users are employed by such defender organ-
12 izations and shall require login credentials available only to employees
13 of such organizations. The administering agency shall conduct an audit 14 at least annually to purge any users who are no longer employed by such 15 organizations.

16 4. The searchable online registry described in this section shall be 17 administered and operated solely by the city of New York police depart-
18 ment. No non-local law enforcement agency, officer, or employee, nor any 19 non-local government employee, nor any private individual or officer of 20 the court who is not an authorized user, shall be given access to this 21 registry or participate in the administration or operation of this 22 registry.

23 5. No authorized user or other person who obtains access to the regis-24 try described in this section shall disclose any information obtained or 25 learned of from such registry to any non-local law enforcement agency, 26 officer, or employee, or to any non-local government employee, or to any 27 private individual or officer of the court who is not an authorized user 28 except by the defender organization to individuals in furtherance of 29 client or potential client representation.

30 § 3. Section 7009 of the civil practice law and rules is amended by 31 adding a new subdivision (f) to read as follows:

32 (f) Persons detained for longer than twenty-four hours. For purposes 33 of this article, when a writ of habeas corpus is heard challenging the 34 pre-arraignment detention of a person detained for more than twenty-four 35 hours, there shall be an evidentiary presumption that such detention,
36 without arraignment, was avoidable and unlawful as defined in section
37 140.20 of the criminal procedure law, until and unless such presumption 38 is rebutted by clear and convincing evidence of compelling facts and 39 circumstance demonstrating that such delay was unavoidable for each
40 individual petitioner identified in the writ.

41 § 4. This act shall take effect immediately.
