IN ASSEMBLY

Introduced by M. of A. LUPARDO -- (at request of the Department of Agriculture and Markets) -- read once and referred to the Committee on Agriculture

AN ACT to amend the agriculture and markets law, in relation to domestic animal health permits

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section 90-a of the agriculture and markets law, as added by chapter 852 of the laws of 1960, is amended to read as follows:

§ 90-a. Declaration of policy and purposes. Infectious and communicable disease affecting domestic animals continues to exist in this state, and the existence thereof endangers the health and welfare of the people of the state. Despite the moneys spent to control, suppress and eradicate such infection and disease its incidence is the concern of the legislature. The powers of quarantine and condemnation held and exercised by the department of agriculture and markets tend to suppress but do not constitute an adequate control. It is hereby declared to be a matter of legislative determination that a more exacting supervision of those who, as a business, whether for profit or not-for-profit, deal in, handle ~~[and]~~, transport, and rescue domestic animals is needed in the public interest and that in the exercise of the police power such persons be required to hold a permit before engaging in such activities.

§ 2. Section 90-b of the agriculture and markets law, as amended by chapter 91 of the laws of 1996, subdivisions 16, 17, 18 and 19 as added by chapter 328 of the laws of 1998 and subdivisions 20, 21, 22 and 23 as added by chapter 271 of the laws of 2001, is amended to read as follows:
