Introduced by M. of A. SLATER -- read once and referred to the Committee on Housing

AN ACT to amend the real property law and the public housing law, in relation to ensuring safe housing transfers for domestic violence victims

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "safe housing transfer for domestic violence victims act".

§ 2. Legislative findings and intent. The legislature finds that domestic violence victims face significant barriers to securing safe housing. While existing law permits early lease termination, victims often face challenges finding new affordable housing. This act seeks to expand protections by allowing landlords of affordable housing properties to offer safe relocation options to domestic violence victims, ensuring housing stability while prioritizing victim safety.

§ 3. Subdivision 6 of section 227-c of the real property law is renumbered subdivision 7 and a new subdivision 6 is added to read as follows:

6. Right to relocation for domestic violence victims. (a) (i) A tenant who is a victim of domestic violence, as such term is defined in section four hundred fifty-nine-a of the social services law, shall have the right to request a transfer to another dwelling unit owned or operated by the same landlord within a reasonable geographic proximity, subject to availability.

(ii) Landlords shall prioritize transfer requests under this subdivision over non-emergency tenant transfers and vacancies for new applicants.

(iii) Landlords shall not retaliate against a tenant who requests to relocate under this subdivision by taking any adverse action against such tenant including, but not limited to, eviction, harassment, or denial of lease renewal.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.

(b) A tenant shall submit a written request for relocation under this subdivision which shall include:

(i) a court-issued order of protection;

(ii) a police report documenting an incident of domestic violence where the tenant is the victim in the incident; or

(iii) a statement from a qualified service provider, health care professional, or social worker verifying the tenant's status as a victim of domestic violence.

(c) (i) A landlord shall respond to a relocation request submitted in accordance with this subdivision within fifteen days of receiving such request and shall include a list of available dwelling units and their fair market value rent.

(A) For equivalent dwelling units, the landlord shall offer such units without requiring additional security deposits, application fees, or increased rent beyond the standard allowable rent for the new units.

(B) For dwelling units which are not equivalent to the tenant's current unit, the landlord shall offer such units at fair market value including any additional security deposits necessary; however, no additional application fees shall be charged.

(ii) Where a landlord does not have any other available dwelling units within their housing portfolio, the landlord may deny the request within fifteen days of receiving such request and shall include a written explanation for such denial and references to alternative housing resources.

(d) When a landlord violates the provisions of this subdivision, a tenant may file a complaint with the division of housing and community renewal who shall investigate such complaint and enforce the provisions of this subdivision.

§ 4. Section 14 of the public housing law is amended by adding two new subdivisions 8 and 9 to read as follows:

8. The commissioner shall promulgate regulations, rules and policies which provide for the rights of tenants who are victims of domestic violence, as such term is defined in section four hundred fifty-nine-a of the social services law, to request an emergency transfer to another dwelling unit operated by the same or a comparable public housing project.

(a) A tenant shall submit a written request for an emergency transfer under this subdivision to their public housing project which shall include:

(i) a court-issued order of protection;

(ii) a police report documenting an incident of domestic violence where the tenant is the victim in the incident; or

(iii) a statement from a qualified service provider, health care professional, or social worker verifying the tenant's status as a victim of domestic violence.

(b) (i) A public housing project shall respond to an emergency transfer request submitted in accordance with this subdivision within fifteen days of receiving such request and shall include a list of available dwelling units and their fair market value rent.

(A) For equivalent dwelling units, the public housing project shall offer such units without requiring additional security deposits, application fees, or increased rent beyond the standard allowable rent for the new units.

(B) For dwelling units which are not equivalent to the tenant's current unit, the public housing project shall offer such units at fair market value including any additional security deposits necessary; however, no additional application fees shall be charged.

(ii) Where a public housing project does not have any other available dwelling units within their housing portfolio, the public housing project may deny the request within fifteen days of receiving such request and shall include a written explanation for such denial and references to comparable public housing projects.

9. The commissioner shall promulgate regulations, rules and policies which provide for the rights of tenants who are victims of domestic violence, as such term is defined in section four hundred fifty-nine-a of the social services law, under section two hundred twenty-seven-c of the real property law.
