AN ACT to amend the state finance law, the public health law and the labor law, in relation to enacting the "New York state community health care investment fund act"

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

1     Section 1. Short title. This act shall be known and may be cited as 2     the "New York state community health care investment fund act".
3     S 2. Legislative intent. The legislature hereby declares that the 4     provision of health care in New York state must be affordable, accessi-
5     ble, and address the multi-faceted needs of its diverse population, from 6     pre-conception planning through the end of life. The legislature also 7     finds that many constituencies play an important role in the state's 8     health care infrastructure: consumers, health care professionals,
9     communities of faith, state and local governments, businesses, insurance
10    companies, community based organizations, home care agencies, school 11    based health clinics, nursing homes, and hospitals.
12    Health care in New York state also faces many challenges. New York 13    state is home to world class medical institutions and research centers.
14    According to the United Health Foundation 2006 America Health Rankings,
15    New York state has the 4th highest per capita spending on public health 16    in the nation, a low rate of motor vehicle deaths and a low rate of 17    cancer deaths. The health care challenges in New York state include a 18    high incidence of infectious disease, limited access to adequate prena-19    tal care, and a low high school graduation rate. Twenty percent of the 20    state's children under 18 years of age live in poverty. Furthermore, the 21    state's overall rank among the rest of the country decreased between 22    2005 and 2006, from 26th place to 29th place. Despite a high per capita 23    spending on health ($316 per person) almost three million of its resi-
24    dents do not have health insurance. Not surprisingly, health disparities

1 persist in low-income cities and neighborhoods and where racial and 2 ethnic minorities comprise a majority of the population. According to a 3 report released in 2004 by the New York city departments of health and 4 mental health, "more than 4,000 deaths would be prevented if the all-5 cause mortality rate in the poorest neighborhoods were lowered to the 6 rate in the wealthiest neighborhoods."

7 Against this backdrop of high public health spending, significant 8 health care disparities experienced by ethnic and racial minorities and 9 approximately three million uninsured people in New York state, HMO 10 profits in New York state have soared in recent years while costs for 11 members have risen and reimbursement for health care providers has fall-12 en. Premium increases statewide have increased about 20 percent, and 13 revenues have risen from $14.5 billion in 2001 to $17.4 billion in 2005.
14 In fact, premium rate increases outpaced medical payments from 2001 to 15 2005 by over $1 billion as New York's HMOs' profits climbed 93 percent, 16 from $672 million to $1.3 billion. HMOs' administrative and claims 17 adjustment costs went up by 24 percent from 2001 to 2005, and average 18 revenue per member increased an average of 8.6 percent annually. During 19 the same period, enrollments declined 14 percent, provider reimburse-20 ments trended downward from 85.3 percent of every dollar to 81.7
21 percent, and out of pocket costs for members increased by 7.7 percent.

22 The legislature additionally finds that HMOs that conduct business in 23 New York state have a responsibility toward improving the health status 24 of the residents of this state and should assist in providing revenue to 25 support critical community health and economic development needs.
