AN ACT to amend the economic development law, in relation to establishing the academic research information access act

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Short title. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "academic research information access act".

S 2. Legislative findings. The public and private academic and research libraries of New York individually license research and development information resources. Access to such resources is vitally important to the furtherance of an innovation-based economy. The primary obstacles limiting access to such information resources at institutions of higher education and within the entrepreneurial community, are the high cost of licensing agreements and restrictive contracts that inhibit collaboration. The application of public funding would allow expanded offerings of information resources while simultaneously increasing availability and access. Therefore, it is in the best interests of the economic development and higher education interests of this state to enact the academic research information access act.

S 3. Subdivision 31 of section 100 of the economic development law, as added by chapter 947 of the laws of 1968 and as renumbered by chapter 437 of the laws of 1983, is amended to read as follows:

31. to sponsor, foster and support research and to sponsor or conduct studies relating to science oriented industry and applied research AND TO PROMOTE THE BROAD AVAILABILITY OF THE INFORMATION RESOURCES REQUIRED

EXPLANATION--Matter in ITALICS (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old law to be omitted.
