AN ACT to amend the labor law, the executive law and the workers' compensation law, in relation to establishing regulations regarding employment of domestic workers including hours of labor, wages and employment contracts

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

1     Section 1. Legislative findings and intent. Many thousands of domes-2     tic workers are employed in New York state as housekeepers, nannies, and 3     companions to the elderly. The labor of domestic workers is central to 4     the ongoing prosperity that the state enjoys, and yet, despite the value 5     of their work, domestic workers do not receive the same protection of 6     many state laws as do workers in other industries. Domestic workers 7     often labor under harsh conditions, work long hours for low wages with-8     out benefits or job security, are isolated in their workplaces, and are 9     endangered by sexual harassment and assault, as well as verbal, 10    emotional and psychological abuse. Moreover, many domestic workers in the state of New York are women of color who, because of race and sex discrimination, are particularly vulnerable to unfair labor practices.

The legislature finds that because domestic workers care for the most important elements of their employers' lives, their families and homes, it is in the interest of employees, employers, and the people of the state of New York to ensure that the rights of domestic workers are respected, protected, and enforced.

Domestic workers have historically been excluded from many of the traditional protections afforded by the labor law. Additionally, domestic workers are not afforded by law the right to organize labor unions for the purpose of collective bargaining. Given the limited legal protections historically provided to domestic workers, and bearing in mind the unique conditions and demands of this private home-based industry, the legislature further finds that domestic workers are entitled to industry-specific protections and labor standards.
