S. 3296--H 2

Section 1. Legislative intent. The legislature hereby finds that bisphenol A (BPA), a principal component in the production of polycarbonate rigid plastic, is used in many products intended for use by young children.

According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control, ninety-three percent of Americans have detectable levels of bisphenol  ${\tt A}$  in their bodies. Research studies have found that babies and toddlers have higher levels of bisphenol A in their bodies than do adults because of greater exposure and reduced capacity to metabolize bisphenol A.

Bisphenol A is a known estrogen-mimicking endocrine disruptor chemical. Endocrine disruption has been linked to a greater number of common ailments, including heart disease, immune system disruption, brain deterioration, type-2 diabetes, cancer and obesity.

state of New York must act to significantly reduce the harm from bisphenol A, particularly for infants and children, the most vulnerable within our population.
