AN ACT to establish a temporary state commission, within the office for the prevention of domestic violence, to study intimate partner violence; and providing for the repeal of such provisions upon expiration thereof

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

1     Section 1. Legislative findings and intent. The legislature hereby 2 finds that intimate partner violence against women is a major public
3 health concern that needs to be addressed with all practical and prag-4 matic tools at its disposal and that those tools should be effectively
5 and responsibly utilized by communities all across the state.
6     According to the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA), 7 1.5 million women are physically and/or sexually abused by an intimate 8 partner each year, and 25% will experience intimate partner violence at 9 some time during their lifetimes. Moreover, 25% of adolescents have 10 experienced physical or sexual dating violence. In another report, the 11 U.S. Department of Justice found out that females are approximately ten 12 times more likely to be killed by an intimate partner than are males.

1 Similarly, injuries that result from such violence are significantly
2 more common among females for both adolescents and adult populations, 3 and approximately 10% of intentional injuries to adolescent girls are 4 reported to be the result of violent male dating. External factors such 5 as race, age, illiteracy and ethnicity are closely related with the 6 climbing rates of intimate partner violence. Furthermore, health risks
7 and demographics have been found to be associated with both dating 8 violence variables and health risk outcomes.

9 Research suggests that the incidence of physical dating violence was 10 associated with substance use (heavy smoking, binge drinking, driving 11 after drinking, cocaine use), unhealthy weight control (diet pills use, 12 laxative use), risky sexual behavior (first intercourse before the age 13 of fifteen years, not using a condom at last intercourse, at least three 14 sex partners in the last three months), pregnancy, and suicidality
15 (considered, attempted suicide).

16 A study found that many secondary effects are commonly related with 17 the prevalence of intimate partner violence. For example, both adoles-18 cent girls and adult women who experienced forcible sex are more likely 19 to exhibit eating disorders; also, violent childhood experiences cata-20 lyze the vulnerability to become victims of intimate partner violence.
21 Likewise, the humiliation of those who experienced intimate partner
22 violence may play a major role in predisposing teens to suicidal idea-
23 tion and behavior. Moreover, based on recent data from abused adults, 24 adolescents who experience dating violence may be less likely than 25 others to receive treatment for mental health concerns.

26 Adolescents experiencing dating violence are at significantly elevated 27 risks for having greater numbers of sex partners, making them more
28 vulnerable to contracting HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases
29 than adolescent girls who are not abused by dating partners. Similarly, 30 abused high school girls are found to be more likely than their non-a-31 bused peers to have ever been pregnant. In contrast, younger girls were 32 found to be at lower risk for experiences of dating violence, due to 33 reduced opportunity for such experiences.

34 Evidently, the legislature needs to address this issue thoroughly due 35 to the disturbing statistics that show an increasing rate of adolescent 36 dating violence. Bearing in mind that the state's population is composed 37 mainly of minority groups, and that for example, according to JAMA, 38 black female students appear to be more likely than individuals from 39 other groups to report sexual violence in the absence of physical 40 violence from dating partners, it is imperative to formulate legislation
41 that would study this issue properly and then make necessary recommenda-42 tions that would lead to minimizing this problem.

43 As noted, it is relevant to make a relationship between dating 44 violence and health risks among, but not limited to, adolescent girls in 45 the state of New York. Health experts agree that perhaps the most press-
46 ing need for research involves the development of this violent behavior
47 among perpetrators of abuse against dating partners. Prevention efforts 48 in this area should be expanded and support should be provided for 49 development and implementation of prevention programs and services
50 specific to teen dating violence. Equally important, is the finding of 51 this legislature that medical and mental health professionals should 52 routinely screen adolescents for dating violence and be aware of appro-53 priate referrals.

54 It is the finding of this legislature that a body of experts in this 55 area be convened to report and recommend solutions to intimate partner 56 violence that can be quickly implemented throughout the state.

1 S 2. A temporary state commission on intimate partner violence is 2 hereby established, within the office for the prevention of domestic 3 violence, to examine, evaluate and make recommendations concerning the 4 prevalence, causes, effects, risks and costs to the state of intimate 5 partner violence, including dating violence toward young women. Such 6 commission shall review the impact of the existing conditions on inti-7 mate partner violence, and how to reduce such violence and increase the 8 reporting of such violence.

9 S 3. The temporary state commission on intimate partner violence shall 10 consist of 15 members to be appointed as follows: 7 shall be appointed 11 by the governor; 3 shall be appointed by the temporary president of the 12 senate; 3 shall be appointed by the speaker of the assembly; 1 shall be 13 appointed by the minority leader of the senate; and 1 shall be appointed 14 by the minority leader of the assembly. Of the members appointed by the 15 governor: 1 member shall be a representative of the office of mental 16 health, 1 member shall be a representative of the education department, 17 1 member shall be a representative of the office for the prevention of 18 domestic violence, 1 member shall be a representative of the office of 19 children and family services and 1 member shall be a representative of 20 the crime victims board. The appointed members of the commission shall 21 be broadly representative of the geographic areas of the state. The 22 members shall each have expertise in the prevalence, causes, effects or 23 risks of intimate partner violence, or the solutions for such violence.
24 The governor shall designate the chair and vice chair from among his or 25 her appointees. Vacancies in the membership of the commission shall be 26 filled in the manner provided for original appointments.

27 S 4. The members of the temporary state commission on intimate partner 28 violence shall convene as necessary as determined by the chair. The 29 members of the temporary state commission shall receive no compensation
30 for their services, but shall be allowed their necessary expenses
31 incurred in the performance of their duties pursuant to this act.

32 S 5. The temporary state commission on intimate partner violence may 33 hold public hearings, and within all relevant laws and regulations
34 governing confidentiality, shall be entitled to request and receive data 35 of any applicable court, department, division, board, bureau, commission 36 or agency of the state or any political subdivision thereof as it may 37 reasonably request to carry out properly its powers and duties pursuant 38 to this act.

39 S 6. The temporary state commission on intimate partner violence shall 40 make a preliminary report to the governor and the legislature of its 41 findings, conclusions and recommendations within twelve months of the 42 effective date of this act; a second report of its findings, conclusions
43 and recommendations, and shall include an outcome analysis of the imple-44 mentation of its recommendations from the preliminary report within 45 twenty-four months of the effective date of this act; and a final report
46 of its final findings, conclusions and recommendations, and an outcome 47 analysis of the implementation of its recommendations from its previous 48 two reports within thirty-six months of the effective date of this act;
49 and shall submit with its reports such legislative proposals as it deems 50 necessary to implement its recommendations.

51 S 7. This act shall take effect on the ninetieth day after it shall 52 have become a law and shall expire 3 years after such effective date
53 when upon such date the provisions of this act shall be deemed repealed; 54 provided, however that any and all actions necessary to effectuate the 55 provisions of this act shall take effect immediately.
