AN ACT in relation to creating a temporary state commission on personal privacy to examine and assess the privacy of individuals in the state of New York and to make recommendations relative to the protection thereof; and providing for the repeal of such provisions upon the expiration thereof

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

1     Section 1. New York state historically has been a leader in protecting 2     the personal privacy of its citizens. Today governmental agencies and 3     commercial firms are constantly gathering and distributing more and more 4     detailed information on the personal lives of the citizens of New York.
5     The rapid advancement in technology in recent years has created new 6     potential threats to the privacy of individuals. The ability to collect, 7     collate, and transmit personal data using information technology now 8     allows isolated pieces of information on an individual to be compiled 9     into profiles of the individual. No comprehensive federal or state law 10    governs personal privacy, nor is any federal or state agency charged 11    with the sole responsibility of identifying personal privacy problems 12    that need to be addressed and encouraging the development and enactment 13    of policies aimed at protecting individuals' privacy. A thorough under-14    standing of the potential dangers to personal privacy is necessary in 15    order that the legislature may take the appropriate steps to protect the 16    privacy of the state's citizens at this pivotal point in time.

EXPLANATION--Matter in ITALICS (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [ ] is old law to be omitted.
