IN SENATE

(PREFILED)

January 9, 2013

Introduced by Sen. SQUADRON -- read twice and ordered printed, and when printed to be committed to the Committee on Education

AN ACT to amend the education law, in relation to training of school athletic coaches in the recognition and management of head injuries

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Legislative intent. Concussions are one of the most commonly reported injuries in children and adolescents who participate in sports and recreational activities. The centers for disease control and prevention estimates that as many as three million nine hundred thousand sports-related and recreation-related concussions occur in the United States each year.

7 A concussion is a type of brain injury that can range from mild to 8 severe and can disrupt the way the brain normally works. It is caused by 9 a blow or motion to the head or body that causes the brain to move 10 rapidly inside the skull. The risk of catastrophic injuries or death is 11 significant when a concussion or head injury is not properly evaluated 12 and managed.

13 Concussions can occur in any organized or unorganized sport or recre-14 ational activity and can result from a fall or from players colliding 15 with each other, the ground, or with obstacles. Concussions occur with 16 or without loss of consciousness, but the vast majority occurs without 17 loss of consciousness.

18 Continuing to play with a concussion or symptoms of head injury leaves 19 the young athlete especially vulnerable to greater injury and even 20 death. Despite some increased recognition about the importance of diag-21 nosing and treating concussions, some affected youth athletes are prema-22 turely returned to play, which can have harmful and potentially even 23 deadly results. It is therefore imperative that adults supervising 24 young athletes in school settings receive proper training to recognize
