FISCAL NOTE.--Pursuant to Legislative Law, section 50:

This proposed legislation would amend paragraph (a) of subdivision 7 of Section 13-501 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York to mandate paraprofessionals into the New York City Teachers' Retirement System (TRS). Under current law, paraprofessionals have the option of joining TRS.

The effective date of the proposed legislation would be the date of enactment.

FINANCIAL IMPACT - ADDITIONAL ANNUAL EMPLOYER CONTRIBUTIONS: If enacted into law, the ultimate employer cost for this proposed legislation would be based on the number, ages, years of service and salary of those paraprofessionals that would otherwise not have elected to become members of TRS.

In order to estimate this group, we were provided with census data of approximately 5,600 paraprofessionals who are not members of TRS. Based on this data and the population of paraprofessionals who have already joined TRS, we have estimated that approximately 2,700 paraprofessionals would become members of TRS if this proposed legislation is enacted. The remaining 2,900 paraprofessionals were assumed to have become members of TRS at some point in their career even absent the proposed legislation.

Based on these assumptions and other actuarial assumptions and methods in effect for the June 30, 2015 (Lag) actuarial valuation used to determine the Preliminary Fiscal Year 2017 employer contributions for TRS, we have estimated the annual cost of this legislation to be $7.3 million. However, the total increase in employer contributions for Fiscal Year 2017 would be approximately $15 million for the entire group of 5,600 paraprofessionals who would be mandated into the plan in the proposed legislation is enacted. This amount includes the cost for the 2,900 paraprofessionals whose membership is being accelerated into TRS and would have become members of TRS even absent the enactment of the proposed legislation. The additional annual employer contributions associated with the 2,700 paraprofessionals who are assumed to become TRS members only if the proposed legislation is enacted has been estimated to be $7.3 million of the $15 million. This employer contribution amount is representative of the annual employer contribution amount for each future year if member participation does not significantly change.

Note that the total increase in employer contributions for Fiscal Year 2017 would be approximately $15 million. However, this amount includes the cost for those paraprofessionals whose membership is being accelerated into TRS and would have become members of TRS absent the enactment of the proposed legislation.

If enacted on or before June 30, 2016, these additional paraprofessionals would likely be included in the census data as of June 30, 2016 and if so the increase in employer contributions to TRS would first be reflected in Fiscal Year 2018.

OTHER COSTS: Not measured in this Fiscal Note are the following potential costs:

- * The additional administrative costs to TRS to implement the proposed legislation.

- * The impact of this proposed legislation on Other Postemployment Benefit (OPEB) costs.
