AN ACT to amend the general municipal law, in relation to creating the Peconic Bay regional transportation council; and providing for the repeal of such provisions upon expiration thereof

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEMBLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

1 Section 1. Legislative findings. The legislature hereby finds that 2 over the past thirty years, rapid growth and development in the Peconic
3 Bay region of Long Island, while providing for a successful economy, has 4 also resulted in some unavoidable, adverse impacts that threaten the 5 region's future quality of life and future economic prosperity. Traffic 6 congestion has been one of the primary adverse impacts from such rapid 7 development.
8 Expanding traffic congestion has resulted in deteriorating traffic
9 safety with increased traffic accidents and fatalities. In addition,
10 traffic congestion has resulted in increased trip delays, declining air 11 quality, adverse impacts to historic and rural resources in the region's

1 villages and hamlets, parking problems, adverse impacts to residential
2 communities and neighborhoods resulting from the diversion of traffic
3 from major highways and arteries to rural residential streets and roads.
4 The region's tourist and second home industries, the cornerstone of 5 its prosperity, are threatened if the adverse consequences of traffic
6 congestion are not promptly and adequately addressed. Further, projec-
7 tions from the state department of transportation and local governments
8 indicate that there will be a continued growth in year-round population,
9 seasonal residents, and traffic into the foreseeable future, exacerbat-
10 ing an already major problem.

11 The legislature finds that the unique geography of the Peconic Bay
12 region limits the ability to expand highway capacity for motor vehicles.
13 The narrow forks limit the augmentation of future highway capacity in an 14 east-west direction. The construction of new highways is not a feasible
15 alternative, and the option of improving capacity on existing highways
16 is limited. In addition to unique geography, impacts to the region's 17 natural and historic resources, such as open space, farmland, watershed
18 areas, wetlands, and historic sites and landmarks also limit increasing 19 highway capacity.

20 While the region's highway infrastructure is severely overburdened,
21 its public transit capabilities are underdeveloped. The region possesses
22 underutilized rail capacity with minimal service from the Long Island
23 Rail Road to the region.

24 The legislature finds that the development of new public transit
25 opportunities for the Peconic Bay region represents the best alternative 26 to address growing traffic congestion and other transportation problems.
27 The region possesses an existing rail infrastructure. Existing service
28 to the region is minimal. Further, there is no coordination between rail 29 service and existing bus service. The opportunity to improve service is 30 clearly available.

31 The region's local governments have recognized the adverse impacts
32 resulting from growing traffic congestion and the need to explore other 33 transportation options such as public transit. Independently, the 34 comprehensive plans of the region's towns and villages have cited traf-
35 fic congestion as a critical problem and have identified improved public
36 transit as a future goal. Towns have created task forces and commissions 37 to address the transportation issue.

38 Further, collectively, as a region, the local governments have joined 39 together to explore public transit options to mitigate traffic 40 congestion. As early as 1994, the East End Economic and Environmental 41 Institute, under the auspices of the East End Mayors and Supervisors 42 Association issued a report entitled Blue Print for Our Future which 43 called for improved and coordinated bus and rail service in the Peconic
44 Bay region.

45 In 2005, after a four-year public outreach process, the local govern-
46 ments of the region issued the result of its SEEDS (Sustainable East End 47 Development) project. This initiative also recognized the need to create 48 improved transportation opportunities, including selected road improve-49 ments and increased and coordinated public transit.

50 The private sector has also recognized the need for improved regional 51 transportation opportunities. The Institute for Sustainable Development, 52 Southampton College of Long Island University, held a conference and 53 issued a report calling for improved transportation opportunities in the 54 region. Five Town Rural Transit, Inc., a private, not-for-profit corpo-55 ration has also recognized the need for public transit improvements. In 56 2005, they unveiled a conceptual plan for an East End Shuttle providing

1 coordinated bus and rail service, and issued a development proposal to 2 further that goal.

3 In 2007, the state of New York provided a $300,000 grant under its 4 Shared Municipal Services Initiative (SMSI) program to study the feasi-
5 bility of the East End Shuttle concept. In addition, the Long Island
6 Rail Road, in conjunction with the towns of Southampton and East Hampton 7 initiated a pilot program in 2007-2008 to provide a rail shuttle and 8 connecting bus service during the reconstruction of County Road 39. This 9 pilot program demonstrated that the rail/bus shuttle concept could be 10 successful. In 2009, the "East End Transportation Study Report", funded
11 by the SMSI program, was completed by the Volpe National Transportation
12 Systems Center, U.S. Department of Transportation. The study concluded
13 that the East End Shuttle concept was both viable and desirable.

14 In summary, the problem of traffic congestion with its adverse impacts 15 on the local environment, economy, and quality of life has long been 16 recognized. Further, a multitude of local governments, regional cooper-
17 ative initiatives, and private initiatives have all identified improved 18 public transit with increased and coordinated rail and bus service as 19 the cornerstone for solving the problem. The concept has been at the 20 center of public policy discussions for more than a decade.

21 The next step is the full development of the East End Shuttle concept 22 in order to implement new transit opportunities in a timely fashion.

23 Currently, no governmental entity exists which can coordinate the 24 multitude of local governments, state government, federal government,
25 and other stakeholders that must participate to implement a successful
26 public transit initiative for the Peconic Bay region.

27 It is the intent of the legislature with this act to provide the 28 necessary governmental framework and resources that will foster the 29 cooperation necessary to implement a public transit proposal for the 30 Peconic Bay region. This legislation will give the local governments the 31 regional framework to develop and implement this initiative, and will 32 mandate the cooperation of state and federal agencies. Further, it will 33 provide for the involvement of all stakeholders and community members in 34 the development process to insure an open and comprehensive decision 35 making process.
