AN ACT to amend the education law, the insurance law and the public health law, in relation to providing for dispensing emergency contraception under certain conditions

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, REPRESENTED IN SENATE AND ASSEM-BLY, DO ENACT AS FOLLOWS:

1     Section 1. Short title. This act shall be known and may be cited as 2     the "unintended pregnancy prevention act".
3     S 2. Legislative findings. The United States Food and Drug Adminis-4     tration (FDA) has declared emergency contraceptive pills to be safe and 5     effective in preventing pregnancy when used within 72 hours after unpro-6     tected intercourse. The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecolo-7     gists and the American College of Nurse-Midwives state that emergency 8     contraception (EC) is so safe, and using it quickly is so important, 9     that it should be available over the counter, without a prescription.
10    They also emphasize the need for unimpeded access to EC for all women of 11    reproductive age. However, although there are no medical reasons to 12    limit provision of EC, the FDA only approved non-prescription access for 13    women 18 years and older. Additionally, the FDA imposed requirements for 14    proving the patient's identity with government-issued identification 15    documents. The need remains, however, to provide access to women who 16    have difficulty obtaining the required identification documents and to 17    women under the age of 17 years. Minors in New York State have long been 18    legally entitled to full access, without parental consent, to all repro-19    ductive health care and services, including EC. Providing direct access 20    to EC for younger women will also make it more likely that they will 21    receive appropriate and timely professional attention, support and 22    assistance.
23    The legislature deems it necessary to create a structure for simplify-24    ing access to EC for these women, while respecting and preserving the 25    prescribing scopes of practice of physicians, nurse practitioners, and 26    midwives, the treating and case-finding scope of practice of registered professional nurses, and the dispensing scope of practice of pharmacists. This act does not alter the scopes of such professions, nor does this legislation interfere with non-prescription access to EC where it is otherwise lawful.

The legislature also finds that this legislation is necessary to ensure that women do not lose insurance coverage for EC solely because it has become available without a prescription. Losing coverage would be a major obstacle to access, which would undermine the important health objectives of the FDA and the legislature.
