AN ACT to amend the agriculture and markets law, in relation to transportation surcharges

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The agriculture and markets law is amended by adding a new section 257-b to read as follows:

§ 257-b. Transportation surcharges. 1. A dairy transporter shall not require an individual farmer, farming cooperative or a farming association to pay a dairy hauling surcharge; unless such surcharge is approved by the department. The department shall approve transportation surcharges which the commissioner deems justified surcharges.

2. For the purposes of this section, a justified surcharge shall be defined as a charge directly correlated to the actual costs of transportation due to the drastic increase in the cost of fuel and any unanticipated cost that affects the entire dairy industry.

§ 2. This act shall take effect on the sixtieth day after it shall have become a law.
