Introduced by M. of A. LUPARDO -- read once and referred to the Committee on Children and Families

AN ACT to amend the social services law, in relation to directing the office of children and family services to establish workload standards for child protective services workers

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section 20-a of the social services law, as added by chap-2 ter 107 of the laws of 1971, is amended to read as follows:

§ 20-a. Local personnel; limitations on department's power. Notwithstanding any inconsistent provision of this chapter, the board, the commissioner or the department, acting singly or in unison, shall not have the power, directly or indirectly to prescribe the number of persons to be employed in any social services district providing the district complies with the minimum federal standards relating thereto; provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not apply 10 to the regulations of the office of children and family services establishing workload standards for child protective services workers promul-11 gated pursuant to paragraph (c) of subdivision four of section four hundred twenty-one of this chapter.

14 § 2. Subdivision 4 of section 421 of the social services law is 15 amended by adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) promulgate regulations relating to workload standards for child protective services, which shall be no more than fifteen active cases 17 18 per month per full time child protective services worker. Nothing in 19 this paragraph shall be construed to forbid the office from promulgating 20 regulations that require an average workload standard of less than 21 fifteen active cases per month per full time child protective services 22 worker.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.
