AN ACT to amend the public health law, in relation to impact studies on tick-borne diseases

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. The public health law is amended by adding a new section
2 207-a to read as follows:

3 § 207-a. Tick-borne diseases and blood-borne pathogen impact study.

4 1. The department, in conjunction with the commissioner of mental 5 health, shall issue a report examining the mental health impacts of 6 tick-borne diseases and blood-borne pathogens on mental illness rates in 7 endemic areas of the state. Such report shall include but not be limited 8 to:

9 (a) Considerations of how Lyme, tick-borne illnesses, and other blood-10 borne pathogens or vector-borne diseases may have correlations with 11 mental illness in infected individuals;

12 (b) Populations at-risk including those individuals with occupations
13 outdoors and/or increased exposure to vectors;

14 (c) Diagnostic indicators of mental illness that can be used as guid-
15 ance for healthcare providers and mental health practitioners;

16 (d) Historical considerations of infection rates and mental illness
17 indicators that may have gone undiagnosed or misdiagnosed in endemic 18 areas; and

19 (e) Recommendations for intervention and coordinated care for individ-20 uals who exhibit mental illness symptoms as well as those who have both 21 physical and mental health indicators.

22 2. Such report shall be submitted to the temporary president of the 23 senate and the speaker of the assembly no later than October first, two 24 thousand nineteen. The department and the commissioner of mental health 25 may engage stakeholders in the compilation of the report, including but 26 not limited to, medical research institutions, health care practition-
27 ers, mental health providers, county and local government, and advo-
28 cates.

29 § 2. This act shall take effect immediately.
