AN ACT to amend the education law, in relation to prohibiting cyberbullying

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

- 1 Section 1. Legislative intent. The legislature finds that:
2 a. Bullying is a long-standing problem among school-aged children in 3 New York state and throughout the nation. With increasing accessibility
4 to electronic means of communication, bullying has transformed from a 5 predominantly school-based issue to a broader societal problem.
6 b. Researchers have demonstrated that bullying has long-term conse-
7 quences. Further, bullying goes beyond the classroom to bullying on the 8 job, on athletic teams, on college campuses and the internet.
9 c. Experts researching bullying have suggested that one tool for 10 schools to use in combatting bullying is to maintain and enforce 11 consistent policies against bullying and harassment, including cyber-12 bullying. Such enforcement is not always possible if bullying occurs 13 away from school or by a non-student.
14 d. Perpetrators of cyberbullying are often more extreme in the threats 15 and taunts they inflict on their victims, as they do not actually see 16 their victim's emotional reaction to the abuse and believe that they are 17 anonymous. Victims of cyberbullying suffer very real and serious harm as 18 a result of these incidents, often showing signs of depression, anxiety,
19 social isolation, nervousness when interacting with technology, low
20 self-esteem and declining school performance. In some cases, victims 21 attempt or commit suicide in part because of the cyberbullying they've 22 endured.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.
