2 shall be considered equivalent to any delivery method required under
3 applicable law, including delivery by first class mail; first class
4 mail, postage prepaid; certified mail; certificate of mail; or certif-
5 icate of mailing.

6 (d) A notice or document may be delivered by electronic means by an 7 insurer to a party under this section if:

8 (1) the party has affirmatively consented to that method of delivery
9 and has not withdrawn the consent;

10 (2) the party, before giving consent, is provided with a clear and 11 conspicuous statement informing the party of:

12 (A) the right of the party to withdraw consent to have a notice or 13 document delivered by electronic means, at any time, and any conditions
14 or consequences imposed in the event consent is withdrawn;

15 (B) the types of notices and documents to which the party's consent
16 would apply;

17 (C) the right of a party to have a notice or document delivered in 18 paper form; and

19 (D) the procedures a party must follow to withdraw consent to have a 20 notice or document delivered by electronic means and to update the 21 party's electronic mail address;

22 (3) the party:

23 (A) before giving consent, is provided with a statement of the hard-
24 ware and software requirements for access to and retention of a notice
25 or document delivered by electronic means; and

26 (B) consents electronically, or confirms consent electronically, in a
27 manner that reasonably demonstrates that the party can access informa-
28 tion in the electronic form that will be used for notices or documents
29 delivered by electronic means as to which the party has given consent;
30 and

31 (4) after consent of the party is given, the insurer, in the event a 32 change in the hardware or software requirements needed to access or 33 retain a notice or document delivered by electronic means creates a
34 material risk that the party will not be able to access or retain a
35 subsequent notice or document to which the consent applies:

36 (A) provides the party with a statement that describes:

37 (i) the revised hardware and software requirements for access to and 38 retention of a notice or document delivered by electronic means; and

39 (ii) the right of the party to withdraw consent without the imposition
40 of any condition or consequence that was not disclosed at the time of 41 initial consent; and

42 (B) complies with paragraph two of this subsection.

43 (e) This section does not affect requirements related to content or 44 timing of any notice or document required under applicable law.

45 (f) If a provision of this chapter or applicable law requiring a
46 notice or document to be provided to a party expressly requires verifi-
47 cation or acknowledgment of receipt of the notice or document, the 48 notice or document may be delivered by electronic means only if the 49 method used provides for verification or acknowledgment of receipt.

50 (g) Notwithstanding any provision of this section, electronic notices
51 provided pursuant to paragraph one of subsection (c) of section three
52 thousand four hundred twenty-five of this article shall require verifi-
53 cation or acknowledgement of receipt of the notice.

54 (h) The legal effectiveness, validity, or enforceability of any
55 contract or policy of insurance executed by a party may not be denied 56 solely because of the failure to obtain electronic consent or confirmation of consent of the party in accordance with subparagraph (B) of paragraph three of subsection (d) of this section.

(i) (1) A withdrawal of consent by a party does not affect the legal effectiveness, validity, or enforceability of a notice or document delivered by electronic means to the party before the withdrawal of consent is effective.

(2) A withdrawal of consent by a party is effective within a reasonable period of time after receipt of the withdrawal by the insurer.

(3) Failure by an insurer to comply with paragraph four of subsection (d) and subsection (k) of this section may be treated, at the election of the party, as a withdrawal of consent for purposes of this section.

(j) This section does not apply to a notice or document delivered by an insurer in an electronic form before the effective date of this section to a party who, before that date, has consented to receive a notice or document in an electronic form otherwise allowed by law.

(k) If the consent of a party to receive certain notices or documents in an electronic form is on file with an insurer before the effective date of this section, and pursuant to this section, an insurer intends to deliver additional notices or documents to such party in an electronic form, then prior to delivering such additional notices or documents electronically, the insurer shall:

(1) provide the party with a statement that describes:

(A) the notices or documents that shall be delivered by electronic means under this section that were not previously delivered electronically; and

(B) the party's right to withdraw consent to have notices or documents delivered by electronic means, without the imposition of any condition or consequence that was not disclosed at the time of initial consent.

(2) comply with paragraph two of subsection (d) of this section.

(l) An insurer shall deliver a notice or document by any other delivery method permitted by law other than electronic means if:

(1) the insurer attempts to deliver the notice or document by electronic means and has a reasonable basis for believing that the notice or document has not been received by the party, or

(2) the insurer becomes aware that the electronic mail address provided by the party is no longer valid.

(m) This section may not be construed to modify, limit, or supersede the provisions of the federal Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act, Public Law 106-229, as amended.

§ 2. This act shall take effect on the ninetieth day after it shall have become a law.
