6 earnings. The wage earning capacity of an injured employee in cases of 1 labor market. Voluntary withdrawal from the labor market is defined as 2 separation from employment for reasons unrelated to the compensable

3 injury, including but not limited to: termination for cause; layoff; 4 voluntary resignation of employment; retirement due solely to age or 5 years of service; or unjustified refusal of work offered by the employer 6 which is consistent with the claimant's medical restrictions.

7 (b) Award after voluntary withdrawal from the labor market. If it 8 finds a voluntary withdrawal from the labor market, the board shall 9 award benefits if the claimant is subsequently attached to the labor
10 market through participation in: (i) one of New York state's department
11 of labor's reemployment services, (ii) the services offered by a One-
12 Stop Career Center, (iii) a retraining program, (iv) a rehabilitation
13 program by VESID or other board approved rehabilitation program, (v) a 14 job service commonly utilized to secure work within a specific industry, 15 (vi) enrollment and full time attendance in an accredited educational 16 institution to pursue employment within the work restrictions, or (vii)
17 return to work.

18 5-c. Non-schedule adjustments. Notwithstanding any other provision of 19 this chapter, in any case coming within the provisions of subdivisions 20 three or five of this section, in which the right to compensation has 21 been established and compensation has been paid for not less than three 22 months, in which the continuance of disability and of future earning 23 capacity cannot be ascertained with reasonable certainty, the board may, 24 in the interest of justice, approve a non-schedule adjustment agreed to 25 between the claimant and the employer or his insurance carrier. The 26 board shall require, before approving any such agreement, that there be 27 an examination of the claimant in accordance with section nineteen of 28 this ~~chapter~~ article, and such approval shall only be given when it is 29 found that the adjustment is fair and in the best interest of the claim-30 ant. The board may, in such case, order all future compensation to be 31 paid in one or more lump sums or periodically, and any such adjustment 32 shall be regarded as a closing of the claim unless the board find upon 33 proof that there has been a change in condition or in the degree of 34 disability of claimant not found in the medical evidence and, therefore, 35 not contemplated at the time of the adjustment.

36 § 2. This act shall take effect immediately.
