A person is guilty of non-support of a child when:

- 1. being a parent, guardian or other person legally charged with the care or custody of a child less than sixteen years old, he or she fails or refuses without lawful excuse to provide support for such child [when 10 he or she is able to do so, or becomes unable to do so, when, though employable, he or she voluntarily terminates his or her employment, 11 12 voluntarily reduces his or her earning capacity, or fails to diligently 13 seek employment]; or
- 2. being a parent, guardian or other person obligated to make child 15 support payments by an order of child support entered by a court of 16 competent jurisdiction for a child less than eighteen years old, he or she knowingly fails or refuses without lawful excuse to provide support 18 for such child [when he or she is able to do so, or becomes unable to do so, when, though employable, he or she voluntarily terminates his or her 20 employment, voluntarily reduces his or her earning capacity, or fails to diligently seek employment].

In any prosecution under this section, it is an affirmative defense 23 that the defendant is unable to provide support for the child. Provided 24 that nothing in this paragraph shall constitute a defense to a prosecution for or preclude conviction of the offense defined in this section 26 where the defendant becomes unable to provide support when, though
