Introduced by Sen. COMRIE -- read twice and ordered printed, and when printed to be committed to the Committee on Rules

AN ACT to direct the department of financial services to study consumer protection issues regarding ATMs that accept EVM-enabled chip cards

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Legislative intent. The legislature hereby finds and 2 declares that the introduction of EVM-enabled chip cards to the general public has presented a unique public safety, consumer protection and 4 personal identity protection issue with respect to ATMs that accept such 5 cards. Due to the unique nature, construction and process sequencing of 6 ATMs the consumer's card is regularly held fully in the machine until 7 such time as the money is disbursed and a receipt is printed. In practice, many consumers have reported that they regularly walk away once they have received the money and receipt and forget to wait for the  $\operatorname{card}$ to be released from the ATM. In the event that people forget to retrieve 10 11 their card, a host of negative outcomes may be visited upon consumers, 12 including, without limitation: the card may be taken by another for the 13 purposes of theft, larceny, fraud, identity assumption and other unlaw-14 ful purposes. The legislature further finds that this is an important 15 public policy issue that bears study, research and scrutiny, as simple 16 and viable alternatives may exist that can more proactively protect 17 consumers, including requiring all newly installed ATMs which are 18 EVM-chip enabled to release the card before disbursing cash or printing 19 a receipt.

§ 2. For purposes of this act:

S. 9026 2

- § 3. The department shall study, research and prepare a report on the issue of ATMs that accept EVM-enabled chip cards to determine which measures may be necessary and proper to ensure that the cards and corresponding personal data and information of consumers is protected from falling into the hands of others. Such report shall include but not be limited to the following issues:
- (a) The prevalence and incidence of people leaving their cards behind in ATM machines;
- (b) The extent to which the general public, including vulnerable populations such as seniors and low-income individuals, are affected by this issue;
- (c) The correlation, if any, between such cards being left behind and the design of such ATM machines which hold the card within the very body of the machine until the last step of the transaction;
- (d) The availability and efficacy of alternative ATM designs that would release the card earlier in the transaction or allow for dipping of the cards, such as is available in most major stores and at gas stations and other businesses, so that the card never leaves the consumers hands; and
- (e) Any other related issues that the department shall deem advisable to create the report.
- § 4. Within one hundred eighty days of the effective date of this act, the department shall submit a report on its findings, conclusions and recommendations pursuant to this act to the governor, the temporary president of the senate, the speaker of the assembly, the chair and ranking minority members of the senate banks committee, the chair ranking minority members of the senate consumer protection committee, the chair and ranking minority members of the assembly banks committee and the chair and ranking minority members of the assembly consumer affairs and protection committee.
- § 5. The department may acquire directly from the head of any agency or instrumentality of the executive branch of the government, available information which the department considers useful in the discharge of its duties. All agencies and instrumentalities of the executive branch of the government shall cooperate with the department with respect to such information and shall furnish all information requested by the department to the extent permitted by law.
- 38 § 6. This act shall take effect immediately.
