AN ACT to amend the civil service law, in relation to the negotiability of discipline affecting public employees

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Legislative findings and declarations. The legislature 2 hereby finds, declares and reaffirms that the 1967 Public Employees' 3 Fair Employment Act establishes that the public policy of the state, and 4 the purpose of the act, is to promote harmonious and cooperative 5 relationships between government and its employees and to protect the 6 public by assuring, at all times, the orderly and uninterrupted opera-7 tion and functions of government. Included among the policies adopted 8 was the requirement that the state, local governments, and other political subdivisions negotiate and enter into agreements with employee 9 10 organizations about terms and conditions of employment. Over the many 11 years subsequent to the enactment of such act, the negotiability of 12 discipline, including disciplinary procedures, has been fully endorsed 13 by the public employment relations board and disciplinary procedures 14 have been incorporated into collective bargaining agreements throughout 15 the state. The legislature now declares that this practice of negotiat-16 ing fair disciplinary protections and procedures for public employees 17 must continue.

A recent court of appeals' decision involving police officers in the city of Schenectady has erroneously declared that the "public policy" of the state is to prohibit absolutely the negotiation of disciplinary procedures in certain places where there exist legislative enactments on the subject of discipline. The legislature declares a necessity for the enactment of this act to ensure that discipline, including disciplinary procedures, will continue as a mandatory subject of collective negotiation, and that collective bargaining agreements addressing that subject remain valid and enforceable and to enhance the prohibition against strikes and the protection against the destruction of vital public services delivered by public employees throughout the state.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.
