Introduced by M. of A. ROZIC, AUBRY, BARRETT, BLAKE, DAVILA, FAHY, JAFFEE, MOSLEY, MOYA, PERRY, TITONE, ROSENTHAL, SEPULVEDA, SIMON -- Multi-Sponsored by -- M. of A. ARROYO, MAGEE -- read once and referred to the Committee on Correction

AN ACT to amend the correction law, in relation to requiring the department of corrections and community supervision to place incarcerated parents at correctional institutions and facilities closest to their children's home

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The opening paragraph of section 158 of the correction law is designated subdivision 1 and two new subdivisions 2 and 3 are added to read as follows:

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision one of this section, in determining placement for a person in custody of the department, whenever practicable the commissioner shall place such person in the correctional institution or facility which is located in closest proximity to the primary place of residence of such person's minor child or children as defined in subdivision thirty-one of section two of the social services law, provided that such placement is suitable and appropriate and would facilitate increased contact between such person and his or her child or children and is in the best interest of such child or children.

3. To make a determination about whether such placement is in the best interest of such child or children, procedures and criteria for assessing such placement shall be developed by the department in consultation with the office of probation and correctional alternatives and the office of children and family services. If such person has more than one child, the department shall make a separate determination for each individual child.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.
