IN ASSEMBLY

January 17, 2017

Introduced by M. of A. LENTOL -- read once and referred to the Committee on Governmental Operations

AN ACT to amend the public health law and the executive law, in relation to the provision of hazardous materials emergency response training to emergency medical services personnel employed by a fire department operating within a city with a population of more than one million

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The public health law is amended by adding a new section 3005-c to read as follows:

§ 3005-c. Hazardous materials emergency response training. 1. Beginning January first, two thousand nineteen, the department, in cooperation with the state fire administrator, shall make available hazardous materials emergency response training, pursuant to the program established in section one hundred fifty-six-a of the executive law, for all emergency medical services personnel employed by a fire department operating within a city of one million or more.

2. The commissioner shall inform all emergency medical service personnel covered by subdivision one of this section, of the implementation and availability of the hazardous materials emergency response training program.

3. Funding for the training required by this section shall be provided by the department pursuant to section ninety-seven-q of the state finance law.

§ 2. Subdivision 1 of section 156-a of the executive law, as amended by section 3 of part A of chapter 101 of the laws of 2013, is amended to read as follows:

1. (a) The state fire administrator shall, in consultation with the advisory council for fire prevention and control, establish a specialized hazardous materials emergency response training program for individuals responsible for providing emergency response recovery following

1 incidents involving hazardous materials as such term is defined in regu-
2 lations promulgated by the commissioner of transportation pursuant to
3 section fourteen-f of the transportation law. The state fire adminis-
4 trator shall inform all fire companies, municipal corporations and
5 districts, including agencies and departments thereof and all firefight-
6 ers, both paid and volunteer, and related officers and employees and 7 police officers of the implementation and availability of the hazardous 8 materials emergency response training program and shall, subject to the 9 availability of an appropriation, conduct such training with sufficient
10 frequency to assure adequate response to incidents involving hazardous 11 materials and protection of responders in all geographic areas of the 12 state.

13 (b) The state fire administrator shall cooperate with the commissioner
14 of health to establish the specialized hazardous materials emergency
15 response training program for emergency medical services personnel
16 provided for in section three thousand five-c of the public health law.

17 § 3. This act shall take effect immediately.
