4. The notice shall list contact information for the toll-free foreclosure helpline maintained by the New York state attorney general and the toll-free helpline maintained by the New York state department of financial services.

"HELP FOR HOMEOWNERS IN DEFAULT ON A MORTGAGE FOR 30 DAYS OR MORE"

"New York State Law requires that we send you this notice about the foreclosure process. Please read it carefully.

You are currently in default on your mortgage for 30 days or more. This is NOT a foreclosure notice. There may be several ways in which you can save your home. We strongly encourage you to contact one of the housing counselors or local legal service agencies listed below. The contact information for the toll-free Helpline maintained by the New York State Attorney General and the toll-free Helpline maintained by the New York State Department of Financial Services are also listed below.

You do not need to wait until your home has been foreclosed on to receive help. Numerous programs may be available to you right now. Some mortgage assistance programs have strict time limits. If you wait too long, then you may become ineligible for assistance by some of these programs. Professional housing counselors and attorneys may be able to assist you in accessing these programs free of charge.

You have the right to remain in your home until a foreclosure sale is scheduled and your house is sold at the auction. This process may take up to several years. Until such time as a judgment of foreclosure is entered by a judge and the house is sold at the foreclosure auction, no one may force you to leave your home. This includes the lender that holds your mortgage.

Until a judgment of foreclosure is entered, you are responsible for the upkeep of your home. This includes payment of water bills, property taxes (unless the lender is paying such taxes), and upkeep of the exterior. If you choose to leave your home before a judgment of foreclosure is rendered, you are still responsible for the upkeep of the home and the exterior, including the yard. Failure to maintain the property may result in additional costs above and beyond the foreclosure proceedings, as well as building code violations which, if not addressed, may lead to an arrest warrant.
