The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Short title. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "public officers accountability act of 2017".

§ 2. This act enacts into law major components of legislation providing for member item reform, creating a new Commission on Official Conduct, requiring forfeiture of campaign funds upon felony convictions, creating a new crime for failure to report corruption, limiting use of campaign funds, enhancing penalties for filing late campaign disclosure statements, and limiting terms of leaders and committee chairs. Each component is wholly contained within a Part identified as Parts A through G. The effective date for each particular provision contained within such Part is set forth in the last section of such Part. Any provision in any section contained within a Part, including the effective date of the Part, which makes a reference to a section "of this act", when used in connection with that particular component, shall be deemed to mean and refer to the corresponding section of the Part in which it is found. Section four of this act sets forth the general effective date of this act. The "public officers accountability act of 2017" provided in this act, includes the support of constitutional amendments that are consistent with the intent of this act. The legislature supports constitutional proposals that remove pension benefits from public officials who are convicted of a felony related to such individual's official duties and to provide that no person who is convicted of a felony, related to such official duties, shall be eligible to serve in the legislature.

§ 6. Financial disclosure. (a) The commission shall inspect all financial disclosure statements filed with the commission to ascertain whether any person subject to the reporting requirements of section 73-a of the public officers law has failed to file such a statement, has filed a deficient statement or has filed a statement which reveals a possible violation of section 73, 73-a or 74 of the public officers law.

(b) If a person required to file a financial disclosure statement with the commission has failed to file a disclosure statement or has filed a deficient statement, the commission shall notify the reporting person in writing, state the failure to file or detail the deficiency, provide the person with a fifteen day period to cure the deficiency, and advise the person of the penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirements. Such notice shall be confidential. If the person fails to make such filing or fails to cure the deficiency within the specified time period, the commission shall send a notice of delinquency: (1) to the reporting person; (2) in the case of a statewide elected official, to the temporary president of the senate and the speaker of the assembly; and (3) in the case of a state officer or employee, to the appointing authority for such person. Such notice of delinquency may be sent at any time during the reporting person's service as a statewide elected official, state officer or employee, political party chair or while a candidate for statewide office, or within one year after termination of such service or candidacy. The jurisdiction of the commission, when acting pursuant to subdivision (d) of this section with respect to financial disclosure, shall continue notwithstanding that the reporting person separates from state service, or ceases to hold office as a statewide elected official or political party chair, or ceases to be a candidate, provided the commission notifies such person of the alleged failure to file or deficient filing pursuant to this subdivision.

(c)(1) If the commission receives a sworn complaint alleging a violation of section 73, 73-a or 74 of the public officers law, section 107 of the civil service law or article 1-A of the legislative law by a person or entity subject to the jurisdiction of the commission, or if a reporting individual has filed a statement which reveals a possible violation of these provisions, or if the commission determines on its own initiative to investigate a possible violation, the commission shall notify the individual in writing, describe the possible or alleged violation of such laws and provide the person with a fifteen day period in which to submit a written response setting forth information relating to the activities cited as a possible or alleged violation of law. If the commission thereafter makes a determination that further inquiry is justified, it shall give the individual an opportunity to be heard. The commission shall also inform the individual of its rules regarding the conduct of adjudicatory proceedings and appeals and the due process procedural mechanisms available to such individual. If the commission determines at any stage of the proceeding that there is no violation or that any potential conflict of interest violation has been rectified, it shall so advise the individual and the complainant, if any. All of the foregoing proceedings shall be confidential.

(2) If the commission determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that a violation has occurred, it shall send a notice of reasonable cause: (i) to the reporting person; (ii) to the complainant if any; (iii) in the case of a statewide elected official, to the temporary president of the senate and the speaker of the assembly; and (iv) in the case of a state officer or employee, to the appointing authority for such person.

(3) The jurisdiction of the commission when acting pursuant to this act shall continue notwithstanding that a statewide elected official or a state officer or employee separates from state service, or a political party chair ceases to hold such office, or a candidate ceases to be a candidate, or a lobbyist or client of a lobbyist ceases to act as such, provided that the commission notifies such individual or entity of the alleged violation of law pursuant to paragraph one of this subdivision within one year from his or her separation from state service or his or her termination of party service or candidacy, or from his, her or its last report filed pursuant to article 1-A of the legislative law. Nothing in this section shall serve to limit the jurisdiction of the commission in enforcement of subdivision 8 of section 73 of the public officers law.

(d) An individual subject to the jurisdiction of the commission who knowingly and intentionally violates the provisions of subdivisions 2 through 5, 7, 8, 12 or 14 through 17 of section 73 of the public officers law, section 107 of the civil service law, or a reporting individual who knowingly and wilfully fails to file an annual statement of financial disclosure or who knowingly and wilfully with intent to deceive makes a false statement or fraudulent omission or gives information which such individual knows to be false on such statement of financial disclosure filed pursuant to section 73-a of the public officers law shall be subject to a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed $40,000 and the value of any gift, compensation or benefit received as a result of such violation. An individual who knowingly and intentionally violates the provisions of paragraphs b, c, d or i of subdivision 3 of section 74 of the public officers law shall be subject to a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed $10,000 and the value of any gift, compensation or benefit received as a result of such violation. An individual who knowingly and intentionally violates the provisions of paragraphs a, e or g of subdivision 3 of section 74 of the public officers law shall be subject to a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed the value of any gift, compensation or benefit received as a result of such violation. An individual subject to the jurisdiction of the commission who knowingly and wilfully violates article 1-A of the legislative law shall be subject to civil penalty as provided for in that article. Assessment of a civil penalty pursuant to this section shall be made by the commission with respect to persons subject to its jurisdiction. In assessing the amount of the civil penalties to be imposed, the commission shall consider the seriousness of the violation, the amount of gain to the individual and whether the individual previously had any civil or criminal penalties imposed pursuant to this section, and any other factors the commission deems appropriate. For a violation of this subdivision, other than for conduct which constitutes a violation of section 107 of the civil service law, subdivisions 12 or 14 through 17 of section 73 or section 74 of the public officers law or article 1-A of the legislative law, the commission may, in lieu of a civil penalty, refer a violation to the appropriate prosecutor and upon such conviction, such violation shall be punishable as a class A misdemeanor. A civil penalty for false filing may not be imposed pursuant to this section in the event a category of "value" or "amount" reported pursuant to this section is incorrect unless such reported information is falsely understated. Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, no other penalty, civil or criminal may be imposed for a failure to file, or for a false filing, of such statement, or a violation of section 73 of the public officers law, except that the appointing authority may impose disciplinary action as otherwise provided by law. The commission may refer violations of this section to the appointing authority for disciplinary action as otherwise provided by law. The commission shall be deemed to be an agency within the meaning of article 3 of the state administrative procedure act and shall adopt rules governing the conduct of adjudicatory proceedings and appeals taken pursuant to a proceeding commenced under article 78 of the civil practice law and rules relating to the assessment of the civil penalties authorized by this subdivision and commission denials of requests for certain deletions or exemptions to be made from a financial disclosure statement as authorized by this act. Such rules, which shall not be subject to the approval requirements of the state administrative procedure act, shall provide for due process procedural mechanisms substantially similar to those set forth in article 3 of the state administrative procedure act but such mechanisms need not be identical in terms or scope. Assessment of a civil penalty or commission denial of such a request shall be final unless modified, suspended or vacated within thirty days of imposition, with respect to the assessment of such penalty, or unless such denial of request is reversed within such time period, and upon becoming final shall be subject to review at the instance of the affected reporting individuals in a proceeding commenced against the commission, pursuant to article 78 of the civil practice law and rules.

(e) If the commission has a reasonable basis to believe that any person subject to the jurisdiction of the legislative ethics commission may have violated any provisions of section 73 or 74 of the public officers law, it may refer such violation to the legislative ethics commission. The referral by the commission to the legislative ethics commission shall include any information relating thereto coming into the custody or under the control of the commission at any time prior or subsequent to the time of the referral.

(f) A copy of any notice of delinquency or notice of reasonable cause sent pursuant to subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section shall be included in the reporting person's file and be available for public inspection and copying.

§ 7. Website. Within one hundred twenty days of the effective date of this section, the commission shall create and thereafter maintain a publicly accessible website which shall set forth the procedure for filing a complaint with the commission, and which shall contain the documents identified in section eight of this act, other than financial disclosure statements, and any other records or information which the commission determines to be appropriate.

§ 8. Public access to records. (a) Notwithstanding the provisions of article 6 of the public officers law, the only records of the commission which shall be available for public inspection and copying are:

(1) the information set forth in an annual statement of financial disclosure filed pursuant to section 73-a of the public officers law except the categories of value or amount, which shall remain confidential, and any other item of information deleted pursuant to this act;

(2) notices of delinquency sent under subdivision (b) of section six of this act;

(3) notices of reasonable cause sent under paragraph two of subdivision (c) of section six of this act;

(4) notices of civil assessments imposed under this act which shall include a description of the nature of the alleged wrongdoing, the procedural history of the complaint, the findings and determinations made by the commission, and any sanction imposed;

(5) the terms of any settlement or compromise of a complaint or referral which includes a fine, penalty or other remedy; and

(6) those required to be held or maintained publicly available pursuant to article 1-A of the legislative law.

(b) Pending any application for deletion or exemption to the commission, all information which is the subject or a part of the application shall remain confidential. Upon an adverse determination by the commission, the reporting individual may request, and upon such request the commission shall provide, that any information which is the subject or part of the application remain confidential for a period of thirty days following notice of such determination. In the event that the reporting individual resigns his or her office and holds no other office subject to the jurisdiction of the commission, the information shall not be made public and shall be expunged in its entirety.

§ 9. Responsibilities of covered agencies, covered individuals, state officers and employees. (a) Every state officer or employee in a covered agency and every covered individual shall report promptly to the commission any information concerning corruption, fraud, criminal activity, conflicts of interest or abuse by another state officer or employee relating to his or her office or employment, or by a person having business dealings with a covered agency relating to those dealings. The knowing failure of any officer or employee to so report shall be cause for removal from office or employment or other appropriate penalty. Any officer or employee who acts pursuant to this subdivision by reporting to the commission improper governmental action as defined in section 75-b of the civil service law shall not be subject to dismissal, discipline or other adverse personnel action.

(b) The head of any covered agency shall advise the governor within ninety days of the issuance of a report by the commission as to the remedial action that the agency has taken in response to any recommendation for such action contained in such report.

§ 10. Confidentiality. Any person conducting or participating in any examination or investigation who shall disclose to any person other than the commission or an officer having the power to appoint one or more of the commissioners the name of any witness examined, or any information obtained or given upon such examination or investigation, except as directed by the commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

§ 11. Evidence to be impounded. Upon the application of the commission, the executive director or a duly authorized member of its staff, the supreme court or a justice thereof may impound any exhibit marked in evidence in any public or private hearing held in connection with an investigation conducted by the commission, and may order such exhibit to be retained by, or delivered to and placed in the custody of, the commission. When so impounded such exhibit shall not be taken from the custody of the commission, except upon further order of the court or a justice thereof made upon five days' notice to the commission or upon its application or with its consent.

§ 12. Immunity from prosecution. In any investigation or hearing conducted by the commission pursuant to this act, relating to any crime or offense with respect to which, by express provision of statute, a competent authority is authorized to confer immunity; the commission may confer immunity in accordance with the provisions of section 50.20 of the criminal procedure law, but only after affording the attorney general and the appropriate district attorney the opportunity to be heard in respect to any objections which they may have to the granting of such immunity.

§ 13. Transfer of functions, powers and duties. All functions, powers, duties and obligations of the former commission on public integrity and the former office of the ò state inspector general are hereby transferred to the commission.

§ 14. Transfer of employees. (a) Upon transfer of the functions of the former commission on public integrity and the former office of the state inspector general to the commission, provisions shall be made for the transfer to the commission of those employees of such former agencies who were engaged in carrying out the functions transferred by this act in accordance with section 70 of the civil service law or, where not subject to the civil service law, the provisions of such section 70 shall be deemed applicable, except where the context clearly requires otherwise. Any such employee who, at the time of such transfer, has a temporary or provisional appointment shall be transferred subject to the same right of removal, examination or termination as though such transfer had not been made except to the extent such rights are modified by a collective bargaining agreement. Employees holding permanent appointments in competitive class positions who are not transferred pursuant to this section shall have their names entered upon an appropriate preferred list for reinstatement pursuant to the civil service law.

(b) A transferred employee shall remain in the same collective bargaining unit as was the case prior to his or her transfer; successor employees to the positions held by such transferred employees shall, consistent with the provisions of article 14 of the civil service law, be included in the same unit as their predecessors. Employees other than management or confidential persons (as defined in article 14 of the civil service law), serving positions in newly created titles shall be assigned to the appropriate bargaining unit. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to affect:

(1) the rights of employees pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement;

(2) the representational relationships among employee organizations or the bargaining relationships between the state and an employee organization; or

The office of court administration shall issue its final determination within three days of receiving the request. Notwithstanding any other provision of law or any professional disciplinary rule to the contrary, the disclosure of the identity of any client or customer in response to this question shall not constitute professional misconduct or a ground for disciplinary action of any kind, or form the basis for any civil or criminal cause of action or proceeding. A reporting individual who first enters public office after January first, two thousand sixteen, need not report clients or customers with respect to matters for which the reporting individual or his or her firm was retained prior to entering public office.
