"Electronic communication information" means information related to 9 an electronic communication or the use of an electronic communication 10 service including, but not limited to the contents, sender, recipients, 11 or format of an electronic communication; the precise or approximate location of the sender or recipients of an electronic communication at 12 13 any time during such communication; the time or date such communication 14 was created, sent, or received and information pertaining to an individual or device involved in the communication including but not limited to 15 16 an internet protocol address. Electronic communication information does 17 not include subscriber information as defined in this article and does not include information in the public domain. 18

19 5. "Electronic communication service" means a service that provides 20 subscribers to or users of such service the ability to send or receive 21 an electronic communication as defined in this article, including a service that acts as an intermediary in the transmission of electronic 22 communications, or that stores electronic communication information. 23

24 6. "Electronic device" means a device that stores, generates, or transmits information in electronic form. 25

26 7. "Electronic device information" means information stored in or 27 generated through the operation of an electronic device, including information related to the location of such device at any time. 28

29 8. "Electronic information" means electronic communication information 30 or electronic device information.

31 9. "Law enforcement agency" means any agency which is empowered by law 32 to conduct an investigation or to make an arrest for an offense under the penal law, and an agency which is authorized by law to prosecute or 33 34 participate in the prosecution of an offense under the penal law.

10. "Law enforcement officer" means any public servant who is 35 empowered by law to conduct an investigation of or to make an arrest for 36 an offense under the penal law, and any attorney authorized by law to 37 38 prosecute or participate in the prosecution of an offense under the 39 penal law.

11. "Location information" means information regarding the general or 40 41 specific location of an electronic device.

42 12. "Service provider" means a person or entity that provides an elec-43 tronic communication service.

13. "Specific consent" means consent provided directly to a law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer seeking information 44 45 46 regarding an electronic communication, including but not limited to 47 circumstances in which a law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer is the addressee or intended recipient or a member of the intended 48 49 audience for such communication. 50 14. "Subscriber information" means the name, street address, telephone

51 number, email address, or similar contact information provided by a 52 subscriber to the service provider in order to establish or maintain a 53 communication channel or an account for electronic communication 54 services, as well as a subscriber identifier or account number, the period of time in which the subscriber receives service; and the types 55 56 of services used by a user of or subscriber to a service provider.

1	§ 695.10 Search and seizure of electronic devices and electronic commu-
2	nications; in general.
3	1. Except as provided in this section, a law enforcement agency or law
4	enforcement officer shall not:
5	(a) compel, induce or offer incentives for the production of or access
6	to electronic communication information from a service provider;
7	(b) compel the production of or access to electronic device informa-
8	tion from any person or entity other than the authorized possessor of 9	the device; or
10	(c) access electronic device information by means of physical inter-
11	action or electronic communication with the electronic device.
12	2. A law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer may compel the 13	production of or access to electronic communication information from a
14	service provider, or compel the production of or access to electronic
15 16	device information from any person or entity other than the authorized possessor of the device only under the following circumstances:
17	(a) pursuant to a warrant issued in accordance with article six
18	hundred ninety of this title and subject to subdivision four of this 19	section, unless the law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer is 20	required under section 250.00 of the penal law and article seven hundred
21	of this title to obtain a warrant issued pursuant to article seven
22	hundred of this title; or
23	(b) pursuant to a warrant issued in accordance with article seven
24	hundred of this title.
25	3. A law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer may access,
26	without consent, as provided in this section, electronic device informa-
27	tion by means of physical interaction or electronic communication with 28	the device only as follows:
29	(a) pursuant to a warrant in accordance with article six hundred nine-
30	ty of this title and subject to subdivision four of this section, unless 31	the law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer is required under
32	section 250.00 of the penal law and article seven hundred of this title
33 24	to obtain a warrant issued pursuant to article seven hundred of this
34 35	title; (b) pursuant to a warrant issued in accordance with article seven
36	hundred of this title;
37	(c) with the specific consent of the authorized possessor of the
38	device;
39	(d) with the specific consent of the owner of the device, only when 40	the device has been reported as lost or stolen; or
41	(e) if the law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer, in good
42	faith, believes the device to be lost, stolen, or abandoned, provided
43	that the law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer shall access
44	electronic device information only for the purpose of attempting to 45	identify, verify, or contact the owner or authorized possessor of the
46	device.
47	4. Any warrant for electronic information shall:
48	(a) describe with particularity the information to be seized by speci-
49	fying the time periods for which such information is sought and, as 50	appropriate and reasonable, the target individuals or accounts, the 51 52	applications or services covered, and the types of information sought;
5∡ 53	and (b) comply with all applicable provisions of state and federal law,
53 54	including such provisions that prohibit or limit the use of search
54 55	warrants, or that impose additional requirements, beyond the scope of 56	this article, regarding search warrants.

1	5. A service provider may voluntarily disclose electronic communi-
2	cation information or subscriber information when that disclosure is not
3	otherwise prohibited by this article or by other provisions of state law
4	or by federal law.
5	6. A law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer that receives
б	electronic communication information provided voluntarily shall seal
7	that information within ninety days and access to the information shall
8	be prohibited except in one or more of the following circumstances:
9	(a) a law enforcement officer or agency obtains specific consent from 10	the sender or recipient of the electronic communications about which 11	information has been disclosed; or
12	(b) a law enforcement officer or agency obtains a court order author-
13	izing access to the electronic communication information. A court shall 14	issue an access order upon the same finding required for issuing a
15	warrant pursuant to article six hundred ninety of the criminal procedure
16	law and subject to subdivision four of this section.
17	(c) information retained by a law enforcement officer or agent that is 18	subject to this provision shall not be shared with:
19	(i) persons or entities that do not agree to limit the use of the 20	provided information to those purposes identified in the court authori-
21	zation; and
22	(ii) persons or entities that:
23	(A) are not legally obligated to destroy the provided information upon 24	the expiration or rescindment of the court's retention order; or
25	(B) do not voluntarily agree to destroy the provided information upon
26	the expiration or rescindment of the court's retention order.
27	7. A law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer that obtains
28	electronic information pursuant to an emergency involving danger of 29	death or serious physical injury to a person, which requires access to 29 30	death or serious physical injury to a person, which requires access to the electronic information without delay, shall within three days after

11	agency or law enforcement officer that executes a warrant, or obtains
12	electronic information in an emergency pursuant to section 695.10 of 13	this article, shall serve upon or deliver to the target of a warrant or 14	emergency request by registered or first-class mail, electronic mail, or 15	by other means reasonably calculated to be effective, a notice that 16	informs the recipient that information about the recipient has been
17	compelled or requested. Such notice shall state with reasonable specif-18	icity the nature of the government investigation pursuant to which the 19	information is sought. The notice shall include a copy of the warrant or 20	a written statement setting forth facts giving rise to the emergency.
21	The notice shall be provided contemporaneously with the execution of a
22	warrant, or, in the case of an emergency, within three days after 23	obtaining the electronic information. The target of the warrant is 24	entitled to request a copy of the electronic information obtained in the 25	same form it was received upon request. Notice shall include
26	instructions for requesting copies and a law enforcement agency and law
27	enforcement officer must provide copies of information obtained in the 28	same form within three days of receiving the request from the target of 29	the warrant.
30	2. (a) When a warrant is sought or electronic information is obtained
31	in an emergency under section 695.10 of this article, the law enforce-
32	ment agency or law enforcement officer may submit a request to a court
33	supported by a sworn affidavit for an order delaying notification and
34	prohibiting any party providing information from notifying any other
35	party that information has been sought. The court shall issue the order
36	if the court determines that there is reason to believe that notifica-
37	tion may have an adverse result, but only for the period of time that 38	the court finds there is reason to believe that the notification may
39	have that adverse result, and not to exceed ninety days.
40	(b) The court may grant extensions of the delay of up to ninety days
41	each on the same grounds as provided in paragraph (a) of this subdivi-
42	sion.
43	(c) Upon expiration of the period in which notification is delayed, a
44	law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer shall serve upon the 45	identified targets of a warrant or deliver to those targets by regis-
46	tered or first-class mail, electronic mail, or other means reasonably
47	calculated to be effective as specified by the court issuing the order
48	authorizing delayed notification, a document that includes the informa-
49	tion described in subdivision one of this section, along with a copy of 50	all electronic information obtained in the same form it was received,
51	and a statement of the grounds for the court's determination to grant a
52	delay in notifying the individual.
53	3. If there is no identified target of a warrant or emergency request
54	at the time of its issuance, the law enforcement agency or law enforce-
55	ment officer shall submit to the attorney general of this state within 56	three days of the execution of the warrant or issuance of the request a report regarding the information required in subdivision one of this section. If an order delaying notice is obtained pursuant to subdivision two of this section, the law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer shall submit to the attorney general upon the expiration of the period of delay of the notification a report regarding the information required in paragraph (c) of subdivision two of this section. The attorney general's office shall publish such reports on its internet website within ninety days of receipt. The attorney general shall redact names and other personal identifying information from the reports. 4. Except as otherwise provided in this section, nothing in this article shall prohibit or limit a service provider or any other party from disclosing information about any request or demand for electronic information. § 695.20 Search and seizure of electronic devices and electronic communications; when evidence can be suppressed. 1. Persons who are party to or otherwise subject to a trial, hearing, or other legal or administrative proceeding may move to suppress electronic information obtained or retained in violation of this article, the United States Constitution, State Constitution, the New York State Constitution or the provisions of the criminal procedure law. The motion shall be made and shall be subject to review by a court in accordance with the procedures set forth in article seven hundred ten of this title. 2. The attorney general of this state may commence a civil action to compel a law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer to comply with the provisions of this article. This does not preclude action by an individual, service provider, or other recipient of a warrant, order, or other legal process that is inconsistent with this article. 3. An individual, service provider or other recipient of a warrant, order, or other legal process that is inconsistent with this article, the United States Constitution, or the New York State Constitution may petition the issuing court to void or modify the warrant, order, or process, or to order the destruction of information that is sought pursuant to such a warrant, order or other legal process. 4. A state, territory or commonwealth of the United States and foreign and domestic corporations as well as officers, employees, and agents of these entities shall not be subject to a cause of action for providing records, information, facilities, or other forms of assistance in accordance with the terms of a warrant, court order, statutory authorization, emergency certification, or wiretap order issued pursuant to this article. This does not preclude a cause of action for providing records, information, facilities, or other forms of assistance in a manner that is inconsistent with this article. § 695.25 Search and seizure of electronic devices and electronic communications; annual report.

46 A law enforcement agency or law enforcement officer that obtains 1. electronic communication information pursuant to this article shall make 47 48 an annual report to the attorney general of this state regarding such information. The report shall be made on or before February first, two 49 thousand eighteen, and on February first of each year thereafter. To the 50 51 extent such information can be reasonably determined, the report shall 52 include the following: 53 (a) the total number of times electronic information was sought or

16	of this article.
17	(ii) the total number of individuals whose information was sought or 18	obtained;
19	(iii) the total number of instances in which information was sought or
20	obtained that did not specify a target individual from whom or about
21	whom the information was requested;
22	(iv) for demands or requests issued upon a service provider, the 23	number of such demands or requests complied with in full, partially 24	complied with, and not complied with;
25	(v) the number of times notice to targeted individuals of a warrant,
26	court order, statutory authorization, emergency certification, or wire-
27	tap order issued pursuant to this article was delayed and the average
28	length of the delay;
29	(vi) the number of times records obtained pursuant to a warrant, court
30	order, statutory authorization, emergency certification, or wiretap

32	entities or any department or agency of the federal government, and the 33	agencies with which such records were shared;
34	(vii) the average period of time for which location information was 35	obtained or received; and
36	(viii) the number of instances in which electronic information sought
37	or obtained pursuant to this article was relevant to a criminal proceed-
38	ing that led to a conviction.
39	2. On or before April first, two thousand nineteen, and each April
40	first thereafter, the attorney general's office shall publish on its 41	internet website a summary aggregating data related to each type of 42	electronic communication identified in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of 43	subdivision one of this section by county.
44	3. Nothing in this article shall prohibit or restrict a service
45	provider from producing an annual report summarizing the demands or
46	requests it receives under this article.

47 § 2. This act shall take effect immediately.
