1 Such estimate of annual wages to determine eligibility for the purposes
2 of this subdivision shall be provided by the employer. For the purposes 3 of this subdivision, a newly hired state employee whose immediate 4 preceding employment was with another department, division, or agency of 5 the state shall not be deemed to be an eligible employee.

6 (b) Beginning January first, two thousand twenty, the term "eligible 7 employees" shall also mean any person who would otherwise be entitled to 8 receive a benefit under the retirement and social security law or the 9 education law initially hired on or after January first, two thousand 10 twenty who would otherwise be eligible for membership in the New York
11 state and local employees' retirement system or the New York state 12 teachers' retirement system. For the purpose of this paragraph, a newly 13 hired state employee whose prior employment, immediately preceding such 14 state employment, was with another department, division, or agency of 15 the state shall not be deemed to be an eligible employee.

16 § 3. Section 209 of the civil service law is amended by adding a new 25 immediately preceding the agreement being arbitrated.

26 § 4. This act shall take effect immediately. Effective immediately,

29 authorized and directed to be made and completed on or before such 30 effective date.

FISCAL NOTE.--Pursuant to Legislative Law, Section 50:

This bill would amend Section 390 of the Education Law to expand the definition of the term "eligible employees" as it applies to eligibility to join the State University of New York Optional Retirement Program (ORP). The definition would now include any person initially hired on or after January 1, 2020 and who would otherwise be eligible for membership in the New York State Teachers' Retirement System (NYSTRS) or the New York State and Local Retirement System (NYSLRS). Currently only new employees with an annual salary of $75,000 or more and who are not represented by a collective bargaining unit are given the choice between joining a public retirement system (NYSTRS, NYSLRS) or the ORP. Newly hired employees of participating employers of NYSTRS whose immediately preceding employment was with another department, division or agency of the State of New York would not be deemed an eligible employee.

It is not possible to determine the total annual cost to the employers of members of the New York State Teachers' Retirement System since the number of newly hired employees who would choose to participate in the ORP each year cannot be estimated. The number of new entrants to the System could potentially decline each year if some newly hired employees opt to participate in the ORP. The System's outstanding liability under the defined benefit plan is funded over the average future remaining working lifetime of its members. Thus if the System experiences a large decline in the number of new entrants each year, this funding period would decrease resulting in potentially increasing costs to employers. It is strongly recommended that a full actuarial analysis and report be completed to fully and more quantitatively gauge all the potential costs and implications before a structural change of this magnitude is undertaken.

Member data is from the System's most recent actuarial valuation files, consisting of data provided by the employers to the Retirement System. Data distributions and statistics can be found in the System's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR). System assets are as reported in the System's financial statements, and can also be found in the CAFR. Actuarial assumptions and methods are provided in the System's Actuarial Valuation Report.
