AN ACT to amend the penal law, in relation to categorizing hate crimes as serious offenses in relation to possession of firearms and to repeal certain provisions of such law relating thereto

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Legislative findings. (a) As the New York state legislature 2 found in enacting the Hate Crimes Act of 2000, "The intolerable truth is that in these crimes, commonly and justly referred to as 'hate crimes', victims are intentionally selected, in whole or in part, because of their race, color, national origin, ancestry, gender, religion, religious practice, age, disability or sexual orientation. Hate crimes do more than threaten the safety and welfare of all citizens. They inflict 8 on victims incalculable physical and emotional damage and tear at the very fabric of free society. Crimes motivated by invidious hatred toward 10 particular groups not only harm individual victims but send a powerful 11 message of intolerance and discrimination to all members of the group to which the victim belongs. Hate crimes can and do intimidate and disrupt 13 entire communities and vitiate the civility that is essential to healthy democratic processes."

(b) The pernicious harm of hate crimes on targeted individuals and 16 communities is compounded by the use of firearms to threaten and harm the victims. According to one recent analysis, between 2010 and 2015, 18 there were roughly 46,500 hate crimes committed in the United States that involved a gun. The threat of a gun from dangerous extremists sends 20 a clear message that they not only harbor feelings of bias or hate 21 against a particular group, but also that they are willing to kill in Keeping guns out of the hands of individuals who perpetrate hate crimes is therefore a crucial measure to help ensure the safety of groups that have historically been targeted. Current state law does not adequately ensure that individuals who have been convicted of hate crimes do not have easy access to guns.
