1 supervise the woman during transport to and from and during her stay at 2 the hospital, institution or clinic shall be provided to ensure adequate 3 care, custody and control of the woman, except that no correctional 4 staff shall be present in the delivery room during the birth of a baby 5 unless requested by the medical staff supervising such delivery or by 6 the woman giving birth. The woman shall be permitted to have one support 7 person of her choosing accompany her into the delivery room during the 8 birth of the child. The superintendent or sheriff or his or her designee 9 shall cause such woman to be subject to return to such institution or 10 local correctional facility as soon after the birth of her child as the 11 state of her health will permit as determined by the medical profes-12 sional responsible for the care of such woman. If such woman is confined 13 in a local correctional facility, the expense of such accommodation, 14 maintenance and medical care shall be paid by such woman or her rela-15 tives or from any available funds of the local correctional facility and 16 if not available from such sources, shall be a charge upon the county, 17 city or town in which is located the court from which such inmate was 18 committed to such local correctional facility. If such woman is confined 19 in any institution under the control of the department, the expense of 20 such accommodation, maintenance and medical care shall be paid by such 21 woman or her relatives and if not available from such sources, such 22 maintenance and medical care shall be paid by the state. In cases where 23 payment of such accommodations, maintenance and medical care is assumed 24 by the county, city or town from which such inmate was committed the 25 payor shall make payment by issuing payment instrument in favor of the 26 agency or individual that provided such accommodations and services, 27 after certification has been made by the head of the institution to 28 which the inmate was legally confined, that the charges for such accom-29 modations, maintenance and medical care were necessary and are just, and 30 that the institution has no available funds for such purpose.

31 2. A child so born may be returned with its mother to the correctional 32 institution in which the mother is confined unless the chief medical 33 officer of the correctional institution shall certify that the mother is 34 physically unfit to care for the child, in which case the statement of 35 the said medical officer shall be final. A child may remain in the 36 correctional institution with its mother for such period as seems desir-37 able for the welfare of such child, but not after it is one year of age, 38 provided, however, if the mother is in a state reformatory and is to be 39 paroled shortly after the child becomes one year of age, such child may 40 remain at the state reformatory until its mother is paroled, but in no
41 case after the child is eighteen months old. If the mother is an inmate 42 at a state correctional facility, the department shall inform her of her 43 ability to apply to any nursery program run by the department. The offi-44 cer in charge of such institution may cause a child cared for therein 45 with its mother to be removed from the institution at any time before 46 the child is one year of age. He shall make provision for a child 47 removed from the institution without its mother or a child born to a 48 woman inmate who is not returned to the institution with its mother as 49 hereinafter provided. He may, upon proof being furnished by the father 50 or other relatives of their ability to properly care for and maintain 51 such child, give the child into the care and custody of such father or 52 other relatives, who shall thereafter maintain the same at their own 53 expense. If it shall appear that such father or other relatives are 54 unable to properly care for and maintain such child, such officer shall 55 place the child in the care of the commissioner of public welfare or 56 other officer or board exercising in relation to children the power of a

1 commissioner of public welfare of the county from which such inmate was 2 committed as a charge upon such county. The officer in charge of the 3 correctional institution shall send to such commissioner, officer or 4 board a report of all information available in regard to the mother and 5 the child. Such commissioner of public welfare or other officer or board 6 shall care for or place out such child as provided by law in the case of 7 a child becoming dependent upon the county.

8 4. The chief medical officer of each correctional facility housing 9 female inmates or his or her designee shall inform any inmate known to
