AN ACT to amend the judiciary law, in relation to enacting the "language barrier to justice elimination act"

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "language barrier to justice elimination act".

3 § 2. Section 386 of the judiciary law, as amended by chapter 259 of 4 the laws of 1909 and as renumbered by chapter 649 of the laws of 1945, 5 is amended to read as follows:

§ 386. Appointment and compensation of court interpreters generally. 6 7 The county judge and the district attorney of the county may appoint one 8 interpreter, who shall act as and be the court interpreter for such 9 county. Such interpreter shall hold office during the pleasure of the county judge and district attorney and they shall appoint his or her 10 Said interpreter shall receive a salary to be 11 successor in office. 12 fixed by the board of supervisors of said county, which shall be a charge upon the county, to be paid monthly, in the same manner as other 13 14 county officials are paid. Said interpreter so appointed shall, before 15 entering upon his or her duties, file in the office of the county clerk, the constitutional oath of office, and an affidavit under oath or affir-16 mation to make a true and impartial interpretation of proceedings in an 17 understandable manner using such interpreter's best skills and judgment 18 in accordance with the standards for professional conduct and ethical 19 20 behavior found and reinforced in the UCS Court Interpreter Manual and 21 the Court Interpreter Canons of Professional Responsibility. Court 22 interpreters shall participate in training programs provided by the 23 court system for court personnel on ethics, domestic violence and 24 cultural sensitivity. The provisions of this section, however, shall 25 not apply to the counties of New York, Kings and Queens, nor to any other county in which the appointment or compensation of court inter-1 2 preters therein is governed by a special or local act or by any special 3 provision of a general act. 4 § 3. Section 387 of the judiciary law, as amended by chapter 15 of the 5 laws of 1975, is amended to read as follows: б § 387. Temporary appointment of interpreters. If the services of an 7 interpreter be required in any court and there be no unemployed official 8 interpreter to act therein, the court may appoint an interpreter to act 9 temporarily in such court. Such interpreter shall before entering upon 10 his duties file with the clerk of the court the constitutional oath of 11 office, and an affidavit under oath or affirmation to make a true and impartial interpretation of proceedings in an understandable manner 12 using such interpreter's best skills and judgment in accordance with the 13 14 standards for professional conduct and ethical behavior found and rein-15 forced in the UCS Court Interpreter Manual and the Court Interpreter 16 Canons of Professional Responsibility. Court interpreters shall partic-17 ipate in training programs provided by the court system for court personnel on ethics, domestic violence and cultural sensitivity. 18 The court shall fix the compensation of such interpreter at not more than 19 20 twenty-five dollars per day for each day's actual attendance by direc-21 tion of the presiding judge or justice and such compensation shall be 22 paid from the court fund of the county upon the order of the court. 23 4. The judiciary law is amended by adding two new sections 381 and S 24 382 to read as follows: 25 § 381. Standards and functions of court interpreters. 1. A qualified 26 interpreter is a person who is: (a) able to communicate with non-English 27 speaking persons to orally transfer the meaning of statements to and from English and the language spoken by a non-English speaking person; 28 29 (b) interpret in a manner that conserves the meaning, tone, level and 30 register of the original statement without substantive additions or 31 omissions; and (c) performs his or her duties in conformance with the standards of 32 33 professional conduct and ethical behavior found and reinforced in the 34 UCS Court Interpreter Manual and the Court Interpreter Canons of Profes-35 sional Responsibility. 36 2. Any person serving as a court interpreter pursuant to the 37 provisions of this article shall, in any proceeding before a court, 38 state agency or hearing officer, state or submit such person's quali-39 fications on the record, unless waived or otherwise stipulated to by the 40 parties or counsel to the parties prior to such proceeding. 41 3. A non-English speaking person shall be entitled to the services of 42 a qualified court interpreter appointed by a court or state agency in a 43 criminal or civil proceeding, and such court or state agency shall, unless waived pursuant to section three hundred eighty-two of this arti-44 cle, appoint a qualified court interpreter in a civil or criminal 45 46 proceeding to: (a) interpret the proceedings to a non-English speaking 47 party; 48 (b) interpret the testimony of a non-English speaking party or 49 witness; 50 (c) assist the court, agency or hearing officer in performing duties 51 and responsibilities of the court, agency or hearing officer in any proceeding involving one or more parties who are non-English speaking 52 persons. 53 54 § 382. Waiver of court interpreter. 1. Waiver of the right to an interpreter by a non-English speaking party to a proceeding shall be 55 56 effective only when approved by a judge or hearing officer after such

2	counsel from a judge or hearing officer in open court as to the nature
3	and effect of such waiver, and has demonstrated, to the satisfaction of
4	such judge or hearing officer, comprehension of such nature and effect
5	and that such waiver is knowingly and voluntarily made. Following
6	approval of a waiver, a judge or hearing officer shall ensure that a
7	recitation of the waiver procedure pursuant to this section is made part
8	of the record of such proceeding.
9	2. The failure of a non-English speaking person to request an inter-
10	preter shall not be deemed a waiver of such right. Any non-English
11	speaking person may retract a waiver made pursuant to subdivision one of
12	this section at any time during the proceeding and indicate his or her
13	desire to be assisted by a qualified interpreter.
14	§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.
