Introduced by M. of A. RODRIGUEZ, COOK -- Multi-Sponsored by -- M. of A. SIMON -- read once and referred to the Committee on Governmental Operations

AN ACT to amend the executive law, in relation to requiring combustible gas detectors in certain structures

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section 378 of the executive law is amended by adding a new subdivision 19 to read as follows:

19. a. (i) Standards for installation of combustible gas detectors requiring, no later than July first, two thousand twenty that every one or two-family dwelling, or any dwelling accommodation located in a building owned as a condominium or cooperative in the state or any multiple dwellings shall have installed an operable combustible gas detector of such manufacture, design and installation standards as are established by the council.

(ii) Standards for the reporting of gas leaks reported via automatic transmission to a gas company by a gas detector by such gas companies. Provided, however, that such standards shall require a gas company to issue an annual report detailing the number of leaks received in a calendar year disaggregated by county.

b. For purposes of this subdivision, combustible gas detector means an alarm device that complies with the applicable standards of the American National Standards Institute, or its successors, for residential devices for the detection of combustible quantities of methane and propane gases, unless such standards are superseded by rules adopted by the council. Provided, however, that such devices shall further be equipped with technology enabling such devices to automatically report the occurrence of each gas leak detected by such devices to the company providing gas to the dwelling in which such device is located.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.
