461. Office of community living. There is hereby established within the executive department an office of community living. The office of community living shall advise and assist the governor in developing policies designed to help meet the needs of persons with disabilities and to encourage the full participation of persons with disabilities in society. The office of community living shall be the state's coordinator for implementation of the Americans with Disabilities Act, and, as such, is charged with coordinating state activities which insure that state programs do not discriminate against and are accessible to persons with disabilities. The office of community living shall also coordinate the state's efforts to comply with the United States Supreme Court's Olmstead decision. In its 1999, Olmstead v. L.C. decision, the United States Supreme Court ruled that New York, like all states, in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), have an obligation to provide services to individuals with disabilities in the most integrated setting appropriate to their needs. A comprehensive Olmstead implementa-tion plan that will address integrated housing, employment, transportation, community services and other important issues will affirm New York's position as a national leader on disability rights. As such, the office of community living will assume responsibility of chairmanship of the most integrated settings coordinating council. The office for commu-nity living shall also be responsible for funding services that promote and advocate for independence and community living for persons with disabilities.

§ 462. Director; general responsibilities. The head of the office of community living shall be the director, who shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The director shall receive a salary to be fixed by the governor within the amount appropriated therefor. The director, subject to rules prescribed by the governor, may appoint and fix the compensation of subordinates and employees of the division within the amounts appropriated therefor.

§ 463. Additional powers of the office of community living. The office of community living shall have the following additional powers:

1. Submission, reviews and recommendations. (a) Each division within the executive department and all other departments of the state shall submit to the office of community living for review proposed legislation, regulations, orders and plans which may significantly affect the lives or well-being of persons with disabilities in the state. Such matters shall, in the case of proposed legislation, be submitted at least thirty days prior to submission to the legislature and, in the case of regulations, orders and plans, at least thirty days prior to the effective date of this article.

(b) The office of community living shall review and report upon all matters of significance submitted to it. The office shall submit reports or other comments where appropriate to the division or department which referred such matter evaluating (i) the impact of the proposed legislation, regulation, order, or plan upon persons with disabilities; (ii) the relationship and impact of such proposals on existing programs affecting persons with disabilities; (iii) the desirability of such proposals; and (iv) modifications that would enhance the impact of the proposal upon persons with disabilities or aid in the implementation of the new proposal.

2. Cooperation. All state agencies contemplating actions that would be subject to review under this order shall inform the office of community living as early as possible in the process of developing such proposals and shall cooperate with the office of community living in carrying out these responsibilities to assure that appropriate consideration is given the needs and concerns of persons with disabilities.

- 3 § 464. Most integrated setting coordinating council. 1. Legislative 4 findings and intent. The Americans with Disabilities Act requires the 5 state of New York to ensure that people of all ages with disabilities 6 reside and function in the most integrated setting possible. This 7 requirement was recognized and upheld by the Supreme Court in the case 8 of Olmstead, Commissioner, Georgia Department of Human Resources, et al. 9 v. L.C., by Zimring, Guardian ad litem and Next Friend, et al. (138 F. 10 3d 893). While the state of New York provides community supports for 11 people of all ages with disabilities and while the state of New York does operate a home and community-based waiver Medicaid program, the 12 13 legislature hereby finds that the state of New York has no centralized 14 mechanism in place to determine whether or not people of all ages with disabilities are residing in the most integrated setting possible. In 15 16 order to ensure that the state of New York is in compliance with the 17 requirements of the Olmstead decision, the legislature hereby finds that it is incumbent upon the state of New York to develop and implement a 18 19 plan to reasonably accommodate the desire of people of all ages with disabilities to avoid institutionalization and be appropriately placed 20 21 in the most integrated setting possible.

§ 466. New York access to home program. 1. Statement of legislative findings and purpose. The legislature hereby finds and declares that there exists in the state of New York a serious need for financial and technical resources to assist renters and property owners to make dwelling units accessible for low and moderate income persons with disabilities. Providing assistance with the cost of adapting homes will enable many New Yorkers with disabilities to safely and comfortably continue to, or return to, live in their residences instead of residing in an institutional setting. To best accomplish this, the responsibility for the program is transferred to the office of community living.

- 2. Definitions. As used in this article:
- (a) "Office" shall mean the office of community living.
- (b) "Eligible applicant" shall mean a city, town, village or not-forprofit corporation in existence for a period of one or more years prior to application, which is, or will be at the time of award, incorporated under the not-for-profit corporation law and has substantial experience in adapting or retrofitting homes for persons with disabilities.

A property shall not be considered an eligible property if the owner of the property is otherwise obligated by federal, state or local law to provide the improvements funded under this article.
- 3. Access to home contracts. (a) Within the limit of funds available in the access to home program, the office is hereby authorized to enter into contracts with eligible applicants to provide financial assistance for the actual costs of an access to home program. The financial assistance shall be either in the form of grants or loans, as the office shall determine. No more than fifty percent of the total amount awarded pursuant to this article in any fiscal year shall be allocated to access to home programs located within any single municipality.
- (b) The total payment pursuant to any one contract shall not exceed five hundred thousand dollars and the contract shall provide for completion of the program within a reasonable period, as specified therein, which shall not in any event exceed three years from its commencement. Upon request, the office may extend the term of the contract for up to two additional one year periods for good cause shown by the eligi-54 ble applicant.

(c) The office may authorize the eligible applicant to spend up to seven and a half percent of the contract amount for approved administrative costs associated with administering the program.

- (d) The office shall require that, in order to receive funds pursuant to this article, the eligible applicant shall submit a plan which shall include, but not be limited to, program feasibility, impact on the community, budget for expenditure of program funds, a schedule for completion of the program, affirmative action and minority business participation.
- § 467. Other responsibilities of the office of community living. The office of community living is also responsible for administering the following programs, some of which are being transferred from the justice center for persons with special needs:
- 1. Information and referral services. Information and referral services, including the toll-free information and referral telephone line.

The program serves individuals of all ages and disabilities. The program supports regional TRAID centers (RTCs) which provide information, training, device demonstration, reuse, exchange, and loans. The TRAID program also provides technical assistance and advocacy on how to obtain and use assistive technology services and devices.
- 3. Adult home advocacy program. The adult home advocacy program, which has been in operation since 1995, is now under the jurisdiction of the office of community living. The program assists individuals with mental health disabilities who reside in adult homes in the city of New York and Long Island in understanding their legal rights and promotes and protects their rights, including legal and non-legal advocacy services, training on residents' rights supporting self-advocacy and leadership initiatives, and the development and support of resident councils is provided by qualified non-profit agencies which are awarded contracts through a competitive bidding process.
- 4. Advocacy is a core function of the office of community living. Advocacy is an active process with the goal of making the social system, public and community-based or private entities more responsive to the needs of persons with disabilities who are served by that system. Advocacy is not a singular approach, but a continuum of strategies including: self-advocacy, citizen advocacy, and systems advocacy.
 - § 2. Article 25 of the executive law is REPEALED.
