IN ASSEMBLY

March 4, 2019

Introduced by M. of A. CRESPO -- read once and referred to the Committee on Transportation

AN ACT to amend the railroad law and the transportation law, in relation to requiring train operators to completely stop trains prior to entering stations located within a city of over one million inhabitants

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. The railroad law is amended by adding a new section 56-a to read as follows:

§ 56-a. Trains must stop prior to entering stations in cities of over one million inhabitants. Operators of all trains operating to and from stations within cities of over one million inhabitants on tracks over which there are regularly scheduled passenger movements shall be required to bring the train to a complete stop prior to entering each station, whereupon the operator shall make a visual assessment of the forthcoming rails to ensure no persons are present on the rails. Only after making such a visual assessment that the rails at each station are clear can the operator propel the train forward into the station at a maximum speed of five miles per hour.

§ 2. Section 406 of the transportation law, as amended by chapter 505 of the laws of 2011, is amended by adding a new subdivision 4 to read as follows:

4. In compliance with section fifty-six-a of the railroad law, the New York city transit authority track safety task force shall modify the on-track safety program to require operators of all trains operating to and from stations located within New York city on tracks over which there are regularly scheduled passenger movements to bring the train to a complete stop prior to entering each station, whereupon the operator shall make a visual assessment of the forthcoming rails to ensure no persons are present on the rails. Only after making such a visual assessment that the rails at each station are clear can the operator propel the train into the station at a maximum speed of five miles per hour.

§ 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.
