13 of another pursuant to section 20.00 of the penal law; or

14 (vii) if defendant has appealed from a judgment or sentence that is 15 the subject of relief pursuant to this section, such appeal has been 16 finally determined. Nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed to 17 require that the defendant has taken a direct appeal in order to be 18 eligible for relief pursuant to this section.

19 (c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) of this subdivi-20 sion, an otherwise ineligible individual shall be deemed eligible upon 21 consent of the district attorney.

22 (d) An individual who is serving the minimum sentence permitted under 23 the penal law shall not be eligible under this subdivision.

24 (e) A motion brought pursuant to this subdivision shall be referred 25 for determination to the judge or justice who imposed the original 26 sentence upon such individual. If, at the time of the application, the 27 original sentencing judge or justice is no longer a judge or justice of 28 a court of competent jurisdiction, then the application shall be 29 assigned to another judge or justice of the court by the administrative 30 judge of the applicable court.

31 (f) In deciding the motion, the court shall consider the principles of 46 achieve the purposes of sentencing, the court shall grant the motion and 47 enter an order modifying the sentence to any lesser authorized term of 48 imprisonment. The order may also direct that the new sentence run 49 concurrently with any other term of imprisonment being served by the 50 individual. The court shall place its reasons on the record for modifi-

6 and any such waiver shall be deemed void and wholly unenforceable.

7 (k) An order modifying the sentence pursuant to this section shall not 8 affect the validity or status of the underlying conviction.

9 (l) Subdivision one of section seven hundred seventeen and subdivision
