1 the ground that the respondent-parent has permanently neglected the 2 child.

- § 676. Jurisdiction. The family court shall have exclusive, original jurisdiction over any proceeding brought upon grounds specified in this article.
 - § 677. Definitions. As used in this article:
- 7 (a) "permanently neglected child" shall mean a child whose respon8 dent-parent or custodian has failed for a period of either at least one
 9 year substantially and continuously, or repeatedly, to maintain contact
 10 with or plan for the future of the child, although physically and finan11 cially able to do so;
- 12 (b) "petitioner" or "petitioner-parent" means the parent or guardian
 13 commencing the action to terminate the parental rights of the respon-
 14 dent-parent;
- 15 (c) "respondent-parent" means the parent whose parental rights are 16 subject to termination;
- 17 (d) "fact-finding hearing" means a hearing to determine whether the 18 allegations required by paragraphs one, two and three of subdivision (a)
 19 of section six hundred seventy-eight of this article are supported by 20 clear and convincing proof; and
- 21 (e) "dispositional hearing" means a hearing to determine what order of
 22 disposition should be made in accordance with the best interests of the 23 child.
 - § 678. Originating proceeding for the termination of parental rights with respect to a permanently neglected child. (a) A proceeding for the termination of parental rights with respect to a child on the ground of permanent neglect is originated by a petition and notice served upon the respondent-parent or his or her attorney, alleging:
 - 1. the child is a person under eighteen years of age;
 - 2. the child is in the care of one of his or her parents or of a guardian;
 - 3. the child's respondent-parent has failed to maintain contact with or plan for the future of the child, although physically and financially able to do so, for a period of at least one year; and
- 4. the best interests of the child require that the parental rights of the respondent-parent be terminated.
 - (b) Such notice shall inform the respondent-parent that the proceeding may result in an order terminating his or her parental rights with respect to the child without the consent of or notice to the respondent-parent. Such notice also shall inform the respondent-parent of his or her right to the assistance of counsel, including any right they may have to have counsel assigned by the court in any case where they are financially unable to obtain counsel. The petition shall set forth the names and last known addresses of the respondent-parent.
 - § 679. Issuance of summons. On the filing of a petition under this article, the court may cause a copy of the petition and a summons to be issued, requiring the respondent-parent to show cause why the court should not enter an order committing the guardianship and custody of the child to the petitioner-parent for the reason that the child is permanently neglected by the respondent-parent.
- § 680. Service of summons. (a) Service of a summons and petition under this article shall be made by delivery of a true copy thereof to the person summoned at least twenty days before the time stated therein for appearance. If so requested by the respondent-parent, the court may extend the time for appearance and answer.

(b) If after reasonable effort, personal service is not made, such substituted service or service by publication as may be ordered by the judge shall be sufficient.

- (c) Personal service within or without the state or in a foreign country shall be made in accordance with the provisions of section three hundred seven of the surrogate's court procedure act, as the same may be amended from time to time, with respect to service of a citation.
- (d) Service of the summons and other process with a notice as specified herein by publication shall be made in accordance with the provisions of rule three hundred sixteen of the civil practice law and rules, provided, however, that a single publication of the summons or other process with a notice as specified herein in only one newspaper designated in the order shall be sufficient. In no event shall the whole petition be published. The petition shall be delivered to the person summoned at the first court appearance pursuant to section one hundred fifty-four-a of this act. The notice to be published with the summons or other process shall state:
 - 1. the date, time, place and purpose of the proceeding;
- 2. that upon failure of the person summoned to appear, all of his or her parental rights with respect to the child may be terminated; and
- 3. that his or her failure to appear shall constitute a denial of his or her interest in the child, which denial may result, without further notice, in the termination of his or her parental rights with respect to the child.
- § 681. Procedural matters. (a) The provisions of articles one, two and eleven of this act shall apply to the extent that they do not conflict with the specific provisions of this article. In any proceeding under this section, the provisions and limitations of article thirty-one of the civil practice law and rules shall apply to the extent that they do not conflict with the specific provisions of this article. The court shall set a schedule for discovery to avoid unnecessary delay.
- (b) In any proceeding brought pursuant to the provisions of this article, neither the privilege attaching to confidential communications between husband and wife, as set forth in section forty-five hundred two of the civil practice law and rules, nor the physician-patient and related privileges, as set forth in section forty-five hundred four of the civil practice law and rules, nor the psychologist-client privilege, as set forth in section forty-five hundred seven of the civil practice law and rules, nor the social worker-client privilege, as set forth in section forty-five hundred eight of the civil practice law and rules, shall be a ground for excluding evidence which otherwise would be admissible.
- § 682. Nondisclosure of information in exceptional circumstances. Upon a finding, which may be made ex parte, that the health, safety, or liberty of the petitioner-parent or the child would be unreasonably put at risk by the disclosure of identifying information, or if an existing order so provides, the court shall order that the address of the child or petitioner or other identifying information not be disclosed in a pleading or other document filed in a proceeding under this article. In determining any motion for a protective order, the court shall consider the need of the respondent-parent for the discovery to assist in the preparation of the case and any potential harm to the child from the discovery.
- § 683. Evidence. Only competent, material and relevant evidence may be admitted in a fact-finding hearing; only material and relevant evidence may be admitted in a dispositional hearing. Evidence of parental contact or of failure to maintain contact with a child subsequent to the date of the filing of a petition under this part shall be inadmissible in the fact-finding hearing. Such evidence may be admitted in the dispositional hearing but shall not, of itself, be sufficient as a matter of law to preclude or require an order terminating the respondent-parent's parental rights with respect to the child.

- § 684. Hearings. (a) Upon completion of the fact-finding hearing, the dispositional hearing may commence immediately after the required findings are made; provided, however, that if all parties consent the court may, upon motion of any party or upon its own motion, dispense with the dispositional hearing and make an order of disposition on the basis of competent evidence admitted at the fact-finding hearing.
- (b) Reports prepared by the probation service or a duly authorized agency for use by the court prior to the making of an order of disposition shall be deemed confidential information furnished to the court which the court in a proper case may, in its discretion, withhold from or disclose in whole or in part to the petitioner's attorney, counsel, party in interest, or other appropriate person. Such reports may not be furnished to the court prior to the completion of a fact-finding hearing, but may be used in a dispositional hearing or in the making of an order of disposition without a dispositional hearing pursuant to subdivision (a) of this section.
- § 685. Determination. (a) A determination of whether a respondent-parent has failed for a period of either at least one year substantially and continuously, or repeatedly, to maintain contact with or plan for the future of the child, although physically and financially able to do so shall be based on evidence, which may include the following:
- 1. a respondent-parent's expressions or acts manifesting concern for the child, such as letters, telephone calls and other forms of communication with the child;
- 2. the payment by the respondent-parent toward the support of the child of a fair and reasonable sum, according to the respondent-parent's means;
 - 3. either: (i) the respondent-parent's visiting the child at least monthly when physically and financially able to do so and not prevented from doing so by the person having lawful custody of the child; or (ii) the respondent-parent's regular communication with the child or with the person having the care or custody of the child, when physically and financially unable to visit the child or prevented from doing so by the person having lawful custody of the child;
 - 4. efforts by the respondent-parent to communicate and work with the petitioner-parent, the court and the respondent-parent's attorney or other individuals providing services to the respondent-parent, including correctional, mental health and substance abuse treatment program personnel for the purpose of complying with a service plan or court-ordered plan and repairing, maintaining or building the parent-child relationship;
 - 5. whether the respondent-parent openly lived with the child and/or the petitioner parent for a continuous period of six months within the one year period immediately preceding the filing of the petition and who during such period openly held himself or herself out to be the parent of such child;
- 53 6. in the case of a child under the age of six months of age at the
 54 time of the filing of the petition, whether the respondent-parent father
 55 paid a fair and reasonable sum, in accordance with his means, for the medical, hospital and nursing expenses incurred in connection with the petitioner-parent mother's pregnancy and/or with the birth of the child;

- 7. whether the respondent-parent surrendered or attempted to surrender the child to an authorized agency under the provisions of section three hundred eighty-three-c or three hundred eighty-four of the social services law, or whether a guardian has been appointed for the child under the provisions of section three hundred eighty-four-b of the social services law; or
- 8. whether the respondent-parent has maintained a meaningful role in his or her child's life in any form; and
- 9. whether the involvement or continued involvement of the respondent-parent in the child's life is in the child's best interest.
- (b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, the court shall terminate the parental rights of a respondent-parent who has executed an instrument, which shall be irrevocable, denying the paternity of the child, such instrument having been executed after conception and acknowledged or proved in the manner required to permit the recording of a deed.
- (c) 1. The subjective intent of the respondent-parent, whether expressed or otherwise, unsupported by evidence of acts specified in subdivision (a) of this section manifesting such intent, shall not preclude a determination that the respondent-parent failed for a period of either at least one year substantially and continuously, or repeatedly, to maintain contact with or plan for the future of the child, although physically and financially able. In making such a determination, the court shall not require a showing of diligent efforts by any person or agency to encourage the respondent-parent to perform the acts specified in subdivision (a) of this section.
- 2. Evidence of insubstantial or infrequent contacts by a respondent-parent with his or her child shall not, of itself, be sufficient as a matter of law to preclude a determination that such child is a permanently neglected child. A visit or communication by a respondent-parent with the child which is of such character as to overtly demonstrate a lack of affectionate and concerned parenthood shall not be deemed a substantial contact.
- 3. In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the ability to visit and communicate with a child or with the person having custody of the child shall be presumed.
- (d) 1. The court shall consider the special circumstances of a respondent-parent serving in the armed forces, of an incarcerated respondent-parent, of a mentally ill or mentally retarded respondent-parent and of respondent-parent participating in a residential substance abuse treatment program, when determining whether a child is a "permanently neglected child" as defined in this article. In such cases, the court also shall consider the particular constraints, including but not limit-ed to, limitations placed on family contact and the unavailability of social or rehabilitative services to aid in the development of a meaningful relationship between the respondent-parent and his or her child, that may impact the respondent-parent's ability to substantially and continuously or repeatedly maintain contact with his or her child and to plan for the future of his or her child.
 - 2. For the purposes of this subdivision:
- (i) a respondent-parent shall not be deemed unable to maintain contact with or plan for the future of the child by reason of such parent's use of drugs or alcohol, except while the parent is actually hospitalized or institutionalized therefor; and

(ii) the time during which a respondent-parent is actually hospitalized or institutionalized, for mental or physical illness or due to substance abuse, shall not interrupt, but shall not be part of, a period of failure to maintain contact with or plan for the future of a child.

- 3. The determination as to whether a parent is mentally ill or mentally retarded shall be made in accordance with the criteria and procedures set forth in subdivision six of section three hundred eighty-four-b of the social services law. Any provisions of this article which explicitly or implicitly apply to, or reference, persons who are, or who are alleged to be, mentally retarded shall be deemed to apply to, or to be a reference to, persons who are, or who are alleged to be, developmentally disabled.
- (e) As used in this article, "to plan for the future of the child" shall mean to take such steps as may be necessary to provide an adequate, stable home and parental care for the child within a period of time which is reasonable under the financial circumstances available to the parent. The plan must be realistic and feasible, and good faith effort shall not, of itself, be determinative. In determining whether a respondent-parent has planned for the future of the child, the court may consider the failure of the parent to utilize medical, psychiatric, psychological and other social and rehabilitative services and material resources made available to such parent.
- § 686. Adjournments. (a) The court may adjourn a fact-finding hearing or a dispositional hearing for good cause shown on its own motion or on motion made on behalf of the child, or on motion of the petitioner-parent or of the respondent-parent.
- (b) At the conclusion of a fact-finding hearing and after it has made findings required before a dispositional hearing may commence, the court may adjourn the proceedings to enable it to make inquiry into the surroundings, conditions, and capacities of the persons involved in the proceedings.
- § 687. Disposition on adjudication of permanent neglect. (a) At the conclusion of a dispositional hearing on a petition for the termination of parental rights with respect to a child, the court shall enter an order of disposition:
- 1. dismissing the petition in accord with section six hundred eightyeight of this article; or
- 2. suspending judgment in accord with section six hundred eighty-nine of this article; or
- 3. terminating the respondent-parent's parental rights with respect to the child in accordance with section six hundred ninety of this article; provided, however, that an order of disposition terminating parental rights with respect to a child may not be entered after the child's eighteenth birthday, unless the child consents.
- (b) An order of disposition shall be made, pursuant to this section, solely on the basis of the best interests of the child, and there shall be no presumption that such interests will be promoted by any particular disposition.
- § 688. Order dismissing petition. (a) If the allegations of a petition under this article are not established, the court shall dismiss the petition.
- 52 (b) If a motion or application has been made in the course of a 53 proceeding under this article to reconsider an underlying order of 54 termination, or upon the court's own motion on notice to all parties,
 55 the court retains jurisdiction to dispose of that motion or application
 56 regardless of whether it dismisses the petition.

§ 689. Suspended judgment. (a) Rules of court shall define permissible terms and conditions of a suspended judgment. These terms and conditions shall relate to the acts or omissions of the respondent-parent.

- (b) The maximum duration of a suspended judgment under this section is one year, unless the court finds at the conclusion of that period that exceptional circumstances require an extension of that period for one additional period of up to one year. Successive extensions may not be granted.
- (c) The order of suspended judgment must set forth the duration, terms and conditions of the suspended judgment, and must contain a date certain for a court review not later than thirty days prior to the expiration of the period of suspended judgment. The order of suspended judgment must also state in conspicuous print that a failure to obey the order may lead to its revocation and to the issuance of an order terminating parental rights. A copy of the order of suspended judgment, along with any plan the respondent-parent is to comply with, must be furnished to the respondent-parent.
- (d) Not later than sixty days before the expiration of the period of suspended judgment, the respondent-parent shall file a report with the family court and all parties, including the petitioner-parent and his or her attorney, the child's attorney and interveners, if any, regarding the respondent-parent's compliance with the terms of suspended judgment. The petitioner-parent, the child's attorney and interveners, if any, may file a response to the respondent-parent's report not later than thirty days before the expiration of the period of suspended judgment. The report and response shall be reviewed by the court on the scheduled court date. Unless a motion or order to show cause has been filed prior to the expiration of the period of suspended judgment alleging a violation or seeking an extension of the period of the suspended judgment, the terms of the disposition of suspended judgment shall be deemed satisfied and an order terminating the respondent-parent's parental rights with respect to the child shall not be entered.
 - (e) If, prior to the expiration of the period of the suspended judgment, a motion or order to show cause is filed that alleges a violation of the terms and conditions of the suspended judgment, or that seeks to extend the period of the suspended judgment for an additional period of up to one year, then the period of the suspended judgment is tolled until entry of the order that disposes of the motion or order to show cause.
- (f) Upon finding that the respondent-parent has violated the terms and conditions of the order of suspended judgment, the court may enter an order revoking the order of suspended judgment and terminating the parental rights of the respondent-parent or, where such extension is in the best interests of the child, extend the period of suspended judgment for an additional period of up to one year, if no prior extension has been granted.
- § 690. Termination of parental rights; further orders. The court may enter an order under section six hundred eighty-seven of this article terminating the respondent-parent's parental rights with respect to the child. An order terminating the respondent-parent's parental rights pursuant to this section shall be granted only upon a finding that the grounds specified in this article are based upon clear and convincing proof.
- § 691. Issuance of warrant; certificate of warrant. (a) The court may issue a warrant, directing that the respondent be arrested, brought before the court, when a petition is presented to the court under section six hundred seventy-eight of this article and it appears that:

- 2. the respondent-parent has failed to obey the summons; or
- 3. the respondent-parent is likely to leave the jurisdiction; or
- 4. a summons, in the court's opinion, would be ineffectual; or
- 7 5. the safety of the petitioner-parent or of the child is endangered; 8 or
 - 6. a respondent-parent on bail or on parole has failed to appear.
 - (b) The petitioner-parent may not serve a warrant upon the respondent-parent unless the court itself grants such permission upon the application of the petitioner-parent. The clerk of the court may issue to the petitioner-parent a certificate stating that a warrant for the respondent-parent has been issued by the court. The presentation of such certificate by said petitioner or representative to any peace officer, acting pursuant to his or her special duties, or police officer authorizes him or her to arrest the respondent and take him or her to court.
 - (c) A certificate of warrant expires ninety days from the date of issue but may be renewed from time to time by the clerk of the court.
 - (d) Rules of court shall provide that a record of all unserved warrants be kept and that periodic reports concerning unserved warrants be made.
 - § 2. Paragraph (iv) of subdivision (a) of section 115 of the family court act, as amended by chapter 37 of the laws of 2016, is amended to read as follows:
 - (iv) proceedings to permanently terminate parental rights to guardianship and custody of a child: (A) by reason of permanent neglect, as set forth in part one of article six of this act and paragraph (d) of subdivision four of section three hundred eighty-four-b of the social services law, (B) by reason of mental illness, intellectual disability and severe or repeated child abuse, as set forth in paragraphs (c) and of subdivision four of section three hundred eighty-four-b of the social services law, [and] (C) by reason of the death of one or both parents, where no guardian of the person of the child has been lawfully appointed, or by reason of abandonment of the child for a period of six months immediately prior to the filing of the petition, where a child is under the jurisdiction of the family court as a result of a placement in foster care by the family court pursuant to article ten or ten-A of this act or section three hundred fifty-eight-a of the social services law, unless the court declines jurisdiction pursuant to section three hundred eighty-four-b of the social services law, and (D) by reason of permanent neglect, as set forth in article six-A of this act;
 - § 3. Severability. If any clause, sentence, paragraph, section or part of this act shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to invalid and after exhaustion of all further judicial review, the judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph, section or part of this act directly involved in the controversy in which the judgment shall have been rendered.
- § 4. This act shall take effect on the first of January next succeeding the date on which it shall have become a law. Effective immediately 51 the addition, amendment and/or repeal of any rule or regulation neces-52 sary for the implementation of this act on its effective date are 54 authorized to be made and completed on or before such date.
