The court shall explain on the record or in writing the reasons for its determination and for any changes to the conditions imposed.
- 4.] 3. (a) Electronic monitoring of a principal's location may be ordered only if [the court finds, after notice, an opportunity to be heard and an individualized determination explained on the record or in writing, that the defendant qualifies for electronic monitoring in accordance with subdivision twenty-one of section 500.10 of this title, and no other realistic non-monetary condition or set of non-monetary conditions will suffice to reasonably assure a principal's return to

- (a) of any conditions to which the principal is subject, to serve as a guide for the principal's conduct; and
- (b) that the possible consequences for violation of such a condition may include revocation of the securing order and the ordering of a more restrictive securing order.
- 5. In the event of noncompliance with the conditions of release, the court, upon motion by the people and only after affording the defendant and defendant's counsel notice of the alleged noncompliance and an opportunity to be heard, may revoke and modify the securing order. In determining whether to revoke and modify the securing order, the court must consider the facts, nature, willfulness and the seriousness of the noncompliance. The court may only set a more restrictive condition or conditions if it finds that such conditions are necessary to reasonably ensure the defendant's appearance in court.

(d) Has set a securing order of release under non-monetary conditions which are more restrictive than necessary to reasonably assure the defendant's return to court.

In such case, such superior court judge may vacate the order of such local criminal court and release the defendant on recognizance or under non-monetary conditions, [er where authorized, fix bail in a lesser amount or in a less burdensome form, whichever are the least restrictive alternative and conditions that will reasonably assure the defendant's return to court. The court shall explain its choice of alternative and conditions on the record or in writing.

- 2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision one of this section, when the defendant is charged with a felony in a local criminal court, a superior court judge may not order recognizance, release under non-monetary conditions or [ - where authorized, bail unless and ] issue a securing order until the district attorney has had an opportunity to be heard in the matter and such judge and counsel for the defendant have been furnished with a report as described in [subparagraph (ii) of paragraph (b) of subdivision [two] three of section 530.20 of this article.
- § 18. Section 530.40 of the criminal procedure law, as amended by section 18 of part JJJ of chapter 59 of the laws of 2019, is amended to read as follows:
- § 530.40 Order of recognizance, release under non-monetary conditions [or bail]; by superior court when action is pending therein.

When a criminal action is pending in a superior court, such court, upon application of a defendant, must or may order recognizance or [bail] a securing order as follows:

- 1. [When the defendant is charged with an offense or offenses of less than felony grade only, the court must, unless otherwise provided by law, order recognizance or release under non-monetary conditions in accordance with this section.
- 2. When the defendant is charged with a felony, the court may, unless otherwise provided by law in its discretion, order recognizance, release under non-monetary conditions or, where authorized, bail. In any such case in which an indictment (a) has resulted from an order of a local eriminal court holding the defendant for the action of the grand jury, or (b) was filed at a time when a felony complaint charging the same conduct was pending in a local criminal court, and in which such local griminal gourt or a superior court judge has issued an order of recognizance, release under non-monetary conditions or, where authorized, bail which is still effective, the superior court's order may be in the form of a direction continuing the effectiveness of the previous order.
- 3. In cases other than as described in subdivision four of this section the court shall release the principal pending trial on the principal's own recognizance, unless the court finds on the record or in writing that release on the principal's own recognizance will not reasonably assure the principal's return to court. In such instances, the court shall release the principal under non-monetary conditions, selecting the least restrictive alternative and conditions that will reasonably assure the principal's return to court. The court shall explain its choice of alternative and conditions on the record or in writing.
- 4. Where the principal stands charged with a qualifying offense, the 54 court, unless otherwise prohibited by law, may in its discretion release 55 the principal pending trial on the principal's own recognizance or under 56 non-monetary conditions, fix bail, or, where the defendant is charged with a qualifying offense which is a felony, the court may commit the principal to the custody of the sheriff. The court shall explain its choice of release, release with conditions, bail or remand on the record or in writing. A principal stands charged with a qualifying offense for the purposes of this subdivision when he or she stands charged with:

(a) a felony enumerated in section 70.02 of the penal law, other than burglary in the second degree as defined in subdivision two of section 140.25 of the penal law or robbery in the second degree as defined in subdivision one of section 160.10 of the penal law;

(c) a crime involving witness tampering under section 215.11, 215.12 or 215.13 of the penal law;

(d) a class A felony defined in the penal law, other than in article two hundred twenty of such law with the exception of section 220.77 of such law;

(e) a felony sex offense defined in section 70.80 of the penal law or a crime involving incest as defined in section 255.25, 255.26 or 255.27 of such law, or a misdemeanor defined in article one hundred thirty of such law;

6. Release the principal pending trial on the principal's personal recognizance, unless the court finds on the record that release on recognizance will not reasonably ensure the individual's court attendance. In such instances, the court shall release the individual under nonmonetary conditions, selecting the least restrictive alternative that will support its choice of alternative on the record.

- 2. Notwithstanding subdivision one of this section, in cases where the people indicate that they intend to move for pretrial detention as set out in article five hundred forty-five of this title, the court may commit the defendant to custody of the sheriff or issue a securing order in accordance with article five hundred forty-five of this title.
- 3. In either case the court must commit or remand the defendant to the custody of the sheriff.

545.70 Oversight board for pretrial detention.

§ 545.10 Pretrial detention; when ordered.

6 A county or superior court may order, before trial, the detention of a 7 defendant if the people seek detention of the defendant under section 8 545.20 of this article, and, after a hearing pursuant to section 545.30 9 of this article, the court finds clear and convincing evidence that the 10 defendant poses a high risk of flight before trial, or that the defend-11 ant poses a current threat to the physical safety of a reasonably identifiable person or persons, and that no conditions or combination of 12 conditions in the community will suffice to contain the aforesaid risk 13 14 or threat. There shall be a rebuttable presumption, except in the circumstances outlined in subdivision four of section 545.30 of this 15 16 article that some condition or conditions in the community will reason-17 ably contain a high risk of flight or a current threat to the physical safety of a reasonably identifiable person or persons. That presumption 18 19 may only be overcome by clear and convincing evidence.

20 § 545.20 Eligibility for a pretrial detention hearing.

1. The people may make a motion to the court at any time seeking the pretrial detention of a defendant.

2. Upon such motion by the people, the defendant may be committed to the custody of the sheriff pending a hearing on the people's motion, or the court may issue a securing order. The court shall support its choice of an alternative on the record. If the person is at liberty, a warrant shall be issued and the defendant brought into custody of the sheriff. § 545.30 Pretrial detention hearing.

1. A hearing shall be held within three working days from the people's motion. At the hearing, the defendant shall have the right to be represented by counsel, and, if financially unable to obtain counsel, to have counsel assigned. The defendant shall be afforded an opportunity to testify, to present witnesses, to cross-examine witnesses who appear at the hearing, and to present information by proffer or otherwise. The rules concerning the admissibility of evidence in criminal trials do not apply to the presentation and consideration of information during the hearing.

2. (a) Within at least twenty-four hours of the hearing, the people shall disclose to the defendant and permit the defendant to inspect, copy or photograph all statements and reports that are in the possession, custody or control of the people, or persons under the people's direction and control that:

- (i) the people rely upon to establish reasonable cause that the defendant committed the alleged crime or crimes; and
- (ii) relate to the people's basis for the pretrial detention motion that either the defendant presents a high risk of flight or a current threat to the physical safety of a reasonably identifiable person or persons.
- 49 (b) In addition, the people will produce any statements that are 50 exculpatory in nature.

(c) Portions of materials claimed to be non-discoverable may be withheld pending a determination and ruling of the court under section 245.70 of this chapter; but the defendant shall be notified in writing that such information has not been disclosed under a particular subdivision of such section, and the discoverable portions of such materials shall be disclosed if practicable.

3. In hearings in cases for which there is no indictment, the people shall establish reasonable cause that the eligible defendant committed the charged offense. The people must establish by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant poses a high risk of flight or a current threat of physical danger to a reasonably identifiable person or persons and that no conditions or combination of conditions in the community will suffice to contain the aforesaid risk or threat.

- 4. There shall be a rebuttable presumption, which the defendant may overcome by a preponderance of the evidence, that no conditions or combination of conditions in the community will suffice to contain a current threat to the physical safety of a reasonably identifiable person or persons if the court finds reasonable cause that the defendant:
- (a) committed a crime for which the defendant would be subject to a term of life imprisonment;
- (b) committed a crime involving serious physical injury or threat of serious physical injury, or attempt therein, while the defendant was in the community on recognizance or under non-monetary conditions for a crime involving serious physical injury or the threat of serious physical injury; or
- 21 (c) threatened, injured, intimidated, or attempted to threaten, injure 22 or intimidate a prospective witness or juror in a criminal investigation 23 or judicial proceeding.
  - 5. In determining whether the defendant presents a high risk of flight or a current threat of physical danger to a reasonably identifiable person or persons and whether no conditions or combinations of conditions in the community will suffice to contain such risk or threat, the court may take into account the following information:
    - (a) the nature and circumstances of the charged offense;
- 30 (b) the weight of the evidence against the defendant, except that the
  31 court may consider the admissibility of any evidence sought to be
  32 excluded;
- 33 (c) the defendant's current and prior history of failure to appear in 34 court whether such failures to appear were willful;
- 35 (d) the nature and the credibility of the threat to the physical
  36 danger of a reasonably identifiable person or persons, if applicable; 37 and
- (e) whether, at the time of the current offense or arrest, the defendant was on probation, parole, or on release pending trial, sentencing or completion of a sentence in this state or other jurisdictions.
  - § 545.40 Order for pretrial detention.
- In a pretrial detention order issued pursuant to section 545.10 of this article, the court shall:
- 44 1. include written findings of fact and a written statement of the 45 reasons for the detention; and
- 2. direct that the eligible defendant be afforded reasonable opportu-17 nity for private consultation with counsel.
  - § 545.50 Reopening of pretrial hearing.
- A pretrial detention hearing may be opened, before or after issuance of a pretrial detention order by the court, by motion of the people or the defendant, at any time before trial, if the court finds either a change of circumstances or that information exists that was not known to the people or to the defendant at the time of the hearing, that has a material bearing on the issue of whether the defendant presents a high risk or failure to appear or a current threat to the physical safety of a reasonably identifiable person or persons and whether no conditions or combination of conditions will suffice to contain such risk or threat. § 545.60 Length of detention for defendant held under a pretrial detention order.

- 1. If a pretrial detention order is issued, a defendant shall not remain detained in jail for more than one hundred eighty days after the return of the indictment, if applicable, until the start of trial. In cases where no indictment is required, the defendant shall not remain detained in jail for more than ninety days from the date of the pretrial detention motion until the start of trial.
- 11 2. (a) The time within which the trial of the case commences may be extended for one or more additional periods not to exceed twenty days 12 13 each on the basis of a motion submitted by the people and approved by the court. The additional period or periods of detention may be granted 14 15 only on the basis of good cause shown, and shall be granted only for the 16 additional time required to prepare for the trial of the person. Good cause may include, but not be limited to, the unavailability of an 17 18 essential witness, the necessity for forensic analysis of evidence, the 19 ability to conduct a joint trial with a co-defendant or co-defendants, 20 severance of co-defendants which permits only one trial to commence 21 within the time period, complex or major investigations, scheduling conflicts which arise shortly before the trial date, the inability to 22 proceed to trial because of action taken by or at the behest of the 23 24 defendant, the breakdown of a plea agreement on or immediately before 25 the trial date, and allowing reasonable time to prepare for a trial 26 after the circumstances giving rise to a tolling or extension of the 27 time period no long exists.
  - (b) In computing the one hundred eighty days from indictment, if applicable, or if no indictment is required, ninety days from the date of the pretrial order, to commencement of trial, the following periods shall be excluded:
  - (i) any period from the filing of the notice of appeal to the issuance of the mandate in an interlocutory appeal;
  - (ii) any period attributable to any examination to determine the defendant's sanity or lack thereof or his or her mental or physical competency to stand trial;
  - (iii) any period attributable to the inability of the defendant to participate in the defendant's defense because of mental incompetency or physical incapacity; and
- (iv) any period in which the defendant is otherwise unavailable for 41 trial.
  - 3. If a trial has not commenced within one hundred eighty days from indictment, if applicable, or ninety days from the pretrial detention order if no indictment is required, as calculated above, and the defendant remains in custody, the defendant shall be released on recognizance or under non-monetary conditions of release pending trial on the underlying charge, unless:
    - (a) the trial is in progress;
- 49 (b) the trial has been delayed by the timely filing of motions, excluding motions for continuances; 50
  - (c) the trial has been delayed at the request of the defendant; or
- (d) upon motion of the people, the court finds that a current substan-52 tial and unjustifiable risk to the physical safety of a reasonably iden-53 tifiable person would result from the defendant's release from custody, 54 and that no appropriate conditions for the defendant's release would 55 56 reasonably address that risk, and also finds that the failure to

If the court makes such a finding, the court must set an additional period of time, not to exceed thirty days, in which the defendant's trial must commence. - § 23. Paragraphs (a) and (c) of subdivision 9 of section 216.05 of the criminal procedure law, paragraph (a) as amended by section 21 of part JJJ of chapter 59 of the laws of 2019, and paragraph (c) as added by section 4 of part AAA of chapter 56 of the laws of 2009, are amended to read as follows:
- (a) If at any time during the defendant's participation in the judicial diversion program, the court has reasonable grounds to believe that the defendant has violated a release condition in an important respect or has willfully failed to appear before the court as requested, the court except as provided in subdivision two of section 510.50 of this chapter regarding a failure to appear, shall direct the defendant to appear or issue a bench warrant to a police officer or an appropriate peace officer directing him or her to take the defendant into custody and bring the defendant before the court without unnecessary delay; provided, however, that under no circumstances shall a defendant who requires treatment for opioid abuse or dependence be deemed to have violated a release condition on the basis of his or her participation in medically prescribed drug treatments under the care of a health care professional licensed or certified under title eight of the education law, acting within his or her lawful scope of practice. The relevant provisions of section [530.60] 530.10 of this chapter relating to issuance of securing orders shall apply to such proceedings under this subdivision.
- (c) If the court determines that the defendant has violated a condition of his or her release under the judicial diversion program, the court may modify the conditions thereof, reconsider the order of recognizance or [bail] a securing order pursuant to subdivision two of section 510.30 of this chapter, or terminate the defendant's participation in the judicial diversion program; and when applicable proceed with the defendant's sentencing in accordance with the agreement. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, the court may impose any sentence authorized for the crime of conviction in accordance with the plea agreement, or any lesser sentence authorized to be imposed 56 on a felony drug offender pursuant to paragraph (b) or (c) of subdivision two of section 70.70 of the penal law taking into account the length of time the defendant spent in residential treatment and how best to continue treatment while the defendant is serving that sentence. 3 determining what action to take for a violation of a release condition, the court shall consider all relevant circumstances, including the views of the prosecutor, the defense and the alcohol or substance abuse treat-7 ment provider, and the extent to which persons who ultimately successfully complete a drug treatment regimen sometimes relapse by not 9 abstaining from alcohol or substance abuse or by failing to comply fully 10 with all requirements imposed by a treatment program. The court shall 11 also consider using a system of graduated and appropriate responses or sanctions designed to address such inappropriate behaviors, protect 12 public safety and facilitate, where possible, successful completion of 13 14 the alcohol or substance abuse treatment program.
