2 or money laundering in support of terrorism in the second degree as 3 defined in section 470.23 of the penal law; or a felony crime of terror-4 ism as defined in article four hundred ninety of the penal law, other 5 than the crime defined in section 490.20 of such law;

6 (vi) is not currently serving a sentence for an offense that included 7 as an element the infliction of serious physical injury; except that 8 this subparagraph shall not apply when the individual's criminal liabil-
9 ity for the offense was based solely on the physical actions or conduct 10 of another pursuant to section 20.00 of the penal law; or

11 (vii) if defendant has appealed from a judgment or sentence that is 12 the subject of relief pursuant to this section, such appeal has been 13 finally determined. Nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed to 14 require that the defendant has taken a direct appeal in order to be 15 eligible for relief pursuant to this section.

16 (c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) of this subdivi-17 sion, an otherwise ineligible individual shall be deemed eligible upon 18 consent of the district attorney.

19 (d) An individual who is serving the minimum sentence permitted under 20 the penal law shall not be eligible under this subdivision.

21 (e) A motion brought pursuant to this subdivision shall be referred 22 for determination to the judge or justice who imposed the original 23 sentence upon such individual. If, at the time of the application, the 24 original sentencing judge or justice is no longer a judge or justice of 25 a court of competent jurisdiction, then the application shall be 26 assigned to another judge or justice of the court by the administrative 27 judge of the applicable court.

28 (f) In deciding the motion, the court shall consider the principles of 29 rehabilitation, punishment and deterrence, the rehabilitation demon-
30 strated by the defendant, and the promotion of the individual's success-31 ful reentry and reintegration into society, as well as public safety.
32 The court may consider any facts or circumstances relevant to the impo-33 sition of a new sentence that are submitted by such individual or the 34 district attorney, including, but not limited to:

35 (i) age, personal circumstances, and medical condition, including 36 conditions that existed at the time of the original sentencing;

37 (ii) the defendant's institutional record of confinement; and

38 (iii) whether the individual has availed himself or herself of educa-
39 tional, therapeutic, and vocational opportunities while imprisoned.

40 (g) The court shall not order a new pre-sentence investigation and 41 report. The court shall offer the defendant an opportunity for a hear-42 ing. If the court finds that the sentence is greater than necessary to 43 achieve the purposes of sentencing, the court shall grant the motion and 44 enter an order modifying the sentence to any lesser authorized term of 45 imprisonment. The order may also direct that the new sentence run 46 concurrently with any other term of imprisonment being served by the 47 individual. The court shall place its reasons on the record for modifi-48 cation of the sentence, or denial of modification.

49 (h) In the event that an individual is denied relief under this subdivi-
50 sion, or in the event that the individual is denied the full reduction 51 sought, he or she may bring a new motion at any time after three years 52 from the date of denial of the previous motion.

53 (i) An appeal to an intermediate appellate court may be taken as of 54 right from an order denying a motion made pursuant to this subdivision.

55 (j) No defendant shall be required or permitted to waive eligibility 56 for relief pursuant to this section as part of a plea of guilty,

1 sentence or any agreement related to a conviction for a felony offense,
2 and any such waiver shall be deemed void and wholly unenforceable.

3 (k) An order modifying the sentence pursuant to this section shall not 4 affect the validity or status of the underlying conviction.

5 (l) Subdivision one of section seven hundred seventeen and subdivision 6 four of section seven hundred twenty-two of the county law, and the 7 related provisions of article eighteen-A of such law, shall apply to the 8 preparation of and proceedings on motions pursuant to this section, as 9 well as to any appeals taken pursuant to this subdivision.

10 § 2. This act shall take effect immediately and shall apply to 11 offenses committed before, on or after the date this act shall have 12 become a law.
