1-a. The informational leaflet shall also include[+
~~(a)~~] an explanation of the special provisions relating to maternity care and coverage under the insurance law and section twenty-eight hundred three-n of this article, and suggest that expectant parents check their insurance policies for the details of their maternity coverage[~~], and~~

~~(b) a statement that the medical assistance program provides coverage for all income-eligible pregnant women and children residing in the state regardless of immigration status~~].

§ 3. Subdivision 1-f of section 2803-j of the public health law as added by a chapter of the laws of 2020, amending the public health law relating to enacting the Jonah Bichotte Cowan law, as proposed by legislative bills numbers S.8525 and A.2770-C is REPEALED.

§ 4. Section 2803-n of the public health law is amended by adding a new subdivision 4 to read as follows:

4. The hospital shall adopt, implement and periodically update standard protocols for management of other emergency medical conditions related to pregnancy for expectant mothers being admitted to the hospital or presenting to the emergency department, including but not limited to pre-term labor. Such protocols shall require the hospital to determine whether an expectant mother is experiencing an emergency medical condition, and upon making a diagnosis of an emergency medical condition, admit the expectant mother to the hospital or treat them in the emergency room for close observation and continuous monitoring until it is deemed medically safe for discharge or transfer in accordance with state and federal requirements including the federal Emergency Medical Treatment and Labor Act (EMTALA).

§ 5. Section 266 of the public health law as added by chapter 342 of the laws of 2014, is amended by adding two new subdivisions 4 and 5 to read as follows:

4. Information pursuant to subdivision two of this section shall include information related to pre-term labor and premature birth, including but not limited to definitions and information on the risks of pre-term labor and premature birth to the expectant mother and fetus, as well as signs and symptoms of pre-term labor. The information shall also include:

(a) a statement that the medical assistance program provides coverage for all income-eligible pregnant women residing in the state regardless of immigration status; and

(b) a statement informing individuals of their right to request a hospital discharge review in accordance with section twenty-eight hundred three-i of this article if they believe they are being asked to leave a hospital too soon; and

(c) a statement informing individuals that hospitals must determine whether an expectant mother is experiencing an emergency medical condition, and upon making a diagnosis of an emergency medical condition, admit the expectant mother to the general hospital or treat them in the emergency room for close observation and continuous monitoring until it is deemed medically safe for discharge or transfer in accordance with state and federal requirements including the federal Emergency Medical Treatment and Labor Act (EMTALA).

1 5. The department shall develop educational materials to be provided
2 to emergency room medical staff regarding the state and federal
3 discharge and transfer requirements.
