§ 681. Termination of parental rights upon a finding of conception by rape. 1. A proceeding for termination of parental rights on the grounds of a finding of conception by rape is originated by a petition alleging that the respondent committed the crime of rape in the first degree as defined in section 130.35, rape in the second degree as defined in section 130.30, or rape in the third degree as defined in section 130.25 of the penal law, and that the child was conceived as a result of such rape. Except as otherwise provided in this part, the provisions of part one of this article shall apply to all proceedings.

2. At the conclusion of the hearing under section six hundred eighty-two of this part the court may terminate all of the parental rights and responsibilities of the respondent if the respondent is found by clear and convincing evidence to have committed rape in the first degree as defined in section 130.35, rape in the second degree as defined in section 130.30 or rape in the third degree as defined in section 130.25 of the penal law, and the child was conceived as a result of such act.
