 55 sion 3 to read as follows:

3. Notwithstanding subdivision one of this section or any other provision of law to the contrary, eighty-five percent of any revenue derived from an increase in the taxes imposed on income over five million dollars pursuant to section six hundred one of this chapter attributable to the difference in the rate of such taxes for taxable year two thousand twenty and the rate of such taxes for taxable year two thousand nineteen and the difference in the rate of such taxes for taxable year two thousand twenty-one and the rate of such taxes for taxable year two thousand nineteen shall be deposited in the state lottery fund, created pursuant to section ninety-two-c of the state finance law, as such taxes are received. Of the total revenue collected or received under such sections of this chapter, the comptroller shall retain in his or her hands such amount as the commissioner may determine to be necessary for refunds or reimbursements under such sections of this chapter out of which amount the comptroller shall pay any refunds or reimbursements to which taxpayers shall be entitled under provisions of such sections. The commissioner and the comptroller shall maintain a system of accounts showing the amount of revenue collected or received from each of the taxes imposed by such sections.

§ 5. Section 601 of the tax law is amended by adding a new subsection (d-2) to read as follows:

(d-2) Alternative tax table benefit recapture. For taxable years two thousand twenty and two thousand twenty-one for a taxpayer whose New York taxable income is over five million dollars, there is hereby imposed a supplemental tax in addition to the tax imposed under subsections (a), (b), (c) and (d-1) of this section for the purpose of recapturing the benefit of the tax tables contained in such subsections. During these taxable years, any reference in this chapter to subsection (d) of this section shall be read as a reference to this subsection.

(1) For resident married individuals filing joint returns and resident surviving spouses, the supplemental tax shall be an amount equal to the sum of the tax table benefit in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph multiplied by the respective fraction in such subparagraph.

(A) The tax table benefit is the difference between (i) the amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table in paragraph one of subsection (a) of this section not subject to the 10.9 percent rate of tax for the taxable year multiplied by such rate and (ii) the dollar denominated tax for such amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table applicable to the taxable year in paragraph one of subsection (a) of this section less the sum of the tax table benefits in subparagraphs (A), (B) and (C) of paragraph one of subsection (d-1) of this section. The fraction for this subparagraph is computed as follows: the numerator is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of New York adjusted gross income for the taxable year over five million dollars and the denominator is fifty thousand dollars. Provided, however, this subparagraph shall not apply to taxpayers who are not subject to the 10.9 percent tax rate.

(B) Provided, however, the total tax prior to the application of any tax credits shall not exceed the highest rate of tax set forth in the tax tables in subsection (a) of this section multiplied by the taxpayer's taxable income.

(2) For resident heads of households, the supplemental tax shall be an amount equal to the sum of the tax table benefit described in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph multiplied by the respective fraction in such subparagraph.

The fraction for this subparagraph is computed as follows: the numerator is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of New York adjusted gross income for the taxable year over five million dollars and the denominator is fifty thousand dollars. Provided, however, this subparagraph shall not apply to taxpayers who are not subject to the 10.9 percent tax rate.

(B) Provided, however, the total tax prior to the application of any tax credits shall not exceed the highest rate of tax set forth in the tax tables in subsection (b) of this section multiplied by the taxpayer's taxable income.

(3) For resident unmarried individuals, resident married individuals filing separate returns and resident estates and trusts, the supplemental tax shall be an amount equal to the sum of the tax table benefits described in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph multiplied by the respective fractions in such subparagraph.

(A) The tax table benefit is the difference between (i) the amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table in paragraph one of subsection (c) of this section not subject to the 10.9 percent rate of tax for the taxable year multiplied by such rate and (ii) the dollar denominated tax for such amount of taxable income set forth in the tax table applicable to the taxable year in paragraph one of subsection (c) of this section less the sum of the tax table benefits in subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph three of subsection (d-1) of this section. The fraction for this subparagraph is computed as follows: the numerator is the lesser of fifty thousand dollars or the excess of New York adjusted gross income for the taxable year over five million dollars and the denominator is fifty thousand dollars. Provided, however, this subparagraph shall not apply to taxpayers who are not subject to the 10.9 percent tax rate.

(B) Provided, however, the total tax prior to the application of any tax credits shall not exceed the highest rate of tax set forth in the tax tables in subsection (c) of this section multiplied by the taxpayer's taxable income.
