54 of such user's personal health information or other data as soon as 55 practicable, but not later than fifteen days after such user revokes 56 such consent.

1 2. In order to obtain consent in compliance with subdivision one of 2 this section, an entity offering an electronic health product or service

21 (b) An entity that collects a user's personal health information or 22 other data shall limit its collection and sharing of that information

53 data from unauthorized use, disclosure, access, destruction, or modifi-54 cation.

55 § 1102. Private right of action. 1. Any person who has been injured by 56 reason of a violation of this article may bring an action in his or her

1 own name, or in the name of his or her minor child, to enjoin such

3 actions. The court may award reasonable attorney's fees to a prevailing 4 plaintiff.

5 2. Any entity who violates this article is subject to an injunction
6 and liable for damages and a civil penalty. When calculating damages and 7 civil penalties, the court shall consider the number of affected indi-8 viduals, the severity of the violation, and the size and revenues of the 9 covered entity. Each individual whose data was unlawfully processed 10 counts as a separate violation. Each provision of this article that was 11 violated counts as a separate violation.
