made in accordance with the applicable transitional provisions in sections 1106, 1216 and 1217 of the New York tax law.

- § 3. The division of homeland security and emergency services, in conjunction with the department of taxation and finance, shall establish, promote, and publish on their respective websites a list of items eligible for the sales and use tax exemption for emergency preparedness supplies, as set forth in subdivision (n) of section 1210 of the tax law. Such list shall be derived from, but not limited to, information published by Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the American Red Cross relating to supplies necessary for the preparation of homes and businesses in the event of a natural or man-made emergency.
- § 4. The division of homeland security and emergency services shall create a 30-second public service announcement, a 60-second public service announcement and generic promotional materials regarding the tax exemption for emergency preparedness supplies. The division shall ensure that such public service announcements and promotional materials are available to municipalities as high-resolution files for download on the division's website for each language required by executive order under language access directives. No less than ninety days before the exemption from tax on supplies for emergency preparedness is to occur, the municipality electing to provide such exemption shall conduct a public awareness campaign to inform residents of such tax exemption.
- § 5. This act shall take effect immediately and shall apply to sales 24 made and uses occurring for the time periods set forth in subdivision (n) of section 1210 of the tax law, as added by section two of this act, 26 commencing in the year 2022 and thereafter; provided, however, the 27 provisions required by section three of this act shall be completed by 28 October 1, 2022.
