AN ACT to amend the criminal procedure law and the civil practice law and rules, in relation to detaining persons for longer than twenty-four hours

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section 140.20 of the criminal procedure law is amended by adding a new subdivision 9 to read as follows:

9. For purposes of this section, "unnecessary delay" shall mean before twenty-four hours or less have expired, commencing at the time of the person being taken into custody by such police officer, or any person acting on behalf of a police officer, even when no arrest number has been issued. The failure or inability of any government agency to fulfill the requirements of this section, as determined by the court after application made by the detainee or their counsel, shall require the immediate release from custody of any person so held.

§ 2. The criminal procedure law is amended by adding a new article 3 to read as follows:

1 into this registry, or upon the release of any person entered into this 2 registry from detention, any and all data related thereto shall be imme-3 diately removed from the registry, destroyed and rendered unavailable to 4 any entity for any purpose.

5 3. For the purposes of this section, authorized users shall be limit-6 ed to defender organizations contracted with cities to represent crimi-
7 nal defendants. The agency administering the registry shall be charged 8 with ensuring that authorized users are employed by such defender organ-
9 izations and shall require login credentials available only to employees
10 of such organizations. The administering agency shall conduct an audit 11 at least annually to purge any users who are no longer employed by such 12 organizations.

13 4. The searchable online registry described in this section shall be 14 administered and operated solely by the city of New York police depart-15 ment. No non-local law enforcement agency, officer, or employee, nor any 16 non-local government employee, nor any private individual or officer of 17 the court who is not an authorized user, shall be given access to this 18 registry or participate in the administration or operation of this 19 registry.

20 5. No authorized user or other person who obtains access to the regis-21 try described in this section shall disclose any information obtained or 22 learned of from such registry to any non-local law enforcement agency, 23 officer, or employee, or to any non-local government employee, or to any 24 private individual or officer of the court who is not an authorized user 25 except by the defender organization to individuals in furtherance of 26 client or potential client representation.

27 § 3. Section 7009 of the civil practice law and rules is amended by 28 adding a new subdivision (f) to read as follows:

29 (f) Persons detained for longer than twenty-four hours. For purposes 30 of this article, when a writ of habeas corpus is heard challenging the 31 pre-arraignment detention of a person detained for more than twenty-four 32 hours, there shall be an evidentiary presumption that such detention is 33 unnecessary, and unlawful as defined in section 140.20 of the criminal 34 procedure law, until and unless such presumption is rebutted by clear 35 and convincing evidence that such a delay was actually necessary for 36 each individual petitioner identified in the writ.

37 § 4. This act shall take effect immediately.
