Introduced by COMMITTEE ON RULES -- (at request of M. of A. Weinstein)
-- read once and referred to the Committee on Judiciary

AN ACT to amend the executive law, in relation to duties of notaries with respect to instruments conveying residential real property

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

1 Section 1. The executive law is amended by adding a new section 137-b
2 to read as follows:

3 § 137-b. Duties of notaries with respect to instruments conveying
4 residential real property. Regarding instruments that convey residential
5 real property situated in this state, in accordance with the definitions
6 in section one hundred thirty-five-c of this article, a notary public
7 must:

8 1. Maintain a journal of each notarization performed where there is a
9 conveyance of residential real property, which upon demand, shall be
10 subject to inspection by the secretary of state. The journal required by 11 this subdivision shall be maintained by each notary public for as long
12 as such notary public remains in office and then for an additional five 13 years thereafter. Each journal entry shall:

14 (a) be made contemporaneously with the performance of the notarial
15 act;

16 (b) indicate the location, date and time of the notarial act;

17 (c) indicate the character of the instrument;

18 (d) indicate the full name and address of the principal;

19 (e) if a remote notarization, indicate the technology used to perform
20 such remote notarization;

21 (f) indicate if there were any other notarial services provided by the
22 same notary public to the same principal on the same day and if so, list
23 all other documents notarized by title or type of document;

24 (g) indicate the type of credential used to identify the principal and
25 maintain in their records a copy of such credential;

26 (h) indicate the amount of any fee charged; and

27 (i) have the principal signing the instrument place an inked thumb-
28 print into the journal.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics (underscored) is new; matter in brackets
[-] is old law to be omitted.

2. Perform a colloquy with the principal, in the written form set forth in paragraph (f) of this subdivision.

(a) If a notary public is not satisfied that the principal is competent to acknowledge the conveyance of real property, the notary public may refuse to certify such acknowledgement.

(b) The colloquy form must be signed and certified by both the principal and notary public. If an interpreter is used for the colloquy, the interpreter must also sign and certify that a true and correct interpretation was made to the principal and specify the language used.

(c) The principal must initial next to each question in the colloquy form.

(d) The colloquy form shall be maintained by each notary public for as long as such notary public remains in office and then for an additional five years thereafter.

(e) Any conveyance of residential real property that does not comply with this subdivision shall be deemed void.

(f) The colloquy form is to be read by the notary public to the principal as follows:
